The World on Blaine's Prospects.

The World's editorial says: We do not concur in the general opinion that Blaine is dead for Presidential candidate. The haste shown by his Republican brethren to administer upon his political estate seems to us rather premature. His prospects have been badly injured, but he is not the man to give up while he has a chance left, and he knows he has now to choose between making a tremendous fight for the nomination and utter political ruin. As candidate of the Republican party, Republican papers—even those which abuse him now—would be obliged to maintain his innocence and purity. Defeat at the polls in such circumstances would be infinitely better for him than retirement under the imputations now cast upon him. The writer continues: Blaine's failure will render the success of any of his rivals impossible. Another political possibility long lost out of the calculation is beginning to grow serious. When the leading candidates have exhausted their energies and blackened each other's characters in the canvass and find that none of them can compass the nomination, is it not altogether unlikely that they will all prefer to surrender to their present master of rules rather than yield to the eleventh hour man who has not borne the heat and burden of the day. In such contingency Grant would come forward in triumph amid the acclamations of the convention. He is in one sense a new man, for while the land is strewn with ruins of Republican reputations shattered, nobody has thought it worth while to use him of late. He will represent unity, discipline, organization, and is not unlikely to be chosen with clamorous exultation.

THE KERR INVESTIGATION.

More Explanation Wanted from Kerr.

The Times has a long special showing Speaker Kerr's record in the famous McGarraghan claim, which shows that Kerr thought the claim just, and afterwards opposed it in every form and shape, denouncing McGarraghan and espousing the cause of the New Idria company. The active man of the latter company was R. K. Elliott, who now appears as Kerr's council in the Green Harney charges. During Panoche Grande contest in 1871, it was observed that Kerr sustained most intimate relations with Thompson, Elliott, and other representatives, and the attorneys of New Idria company. The money used during Kerr's candidacy for speakership was said to be contributed by the Idria company. There is some comment on Kerr's taking of the ironclad oath, considering the testimony in Indiana treason cases of 1861, where one of the witnesses swore as follows: "Do you know whether Mr. Michael C. Kerr is a member of this order or not, The Sons of Liberty? Answer—He was. I initiated him in New Albany, Indiana, at a harness shop on the right hand side of Main street as you go east, I believe at Mr. Graff's." Kerr, in 1868 is said to have denied on the stump that he was a member of the order or ever saw the witness, but the testimony at the time was unimpeached and undisputed, and in the face of it he treats it as false and takes the ironclad. A witness will be subpenaed who is expected to testify as to Strouse, Ex-Co[illegible] man, having appointed a man for pay. The testimony to impeach Harney will be forth coming to-morrow. It is said Bowen will be put on the stand to prove that he lived with some woman he represented to be his wife.

The committee on expenditures in the war department continued investigation into the charge against Speaker Kerr. Mary T. Murray testified that she had resided on Capital Hill since 1865, and kept boarders there. In December, 1865, Lawrence Harney hired a room at her house, in 1866 he also had a room there with his wife, and both took their meals there. Danforth raised a point as to how far the committee would go in this part of the matter, taking the ground that witness could not be contradicted on an immaterial or collateral question. Elliott, counsel for Kerr, replied, taking the ground that it was competent to show by antecedents of witness that he was a competent witness. Blackburn said if Harney had deliberately sworn falsely as to his married life, it was entitled to know whether such was the fact. Danforth expected his objection, and asked whether this committee was not bound by the same rules that a court would enforce, and whether witness would not be entitled to protection. Blackburn said the committee was not bound by the strict technical rules that govern courts. The question was as to the date of Harney's marriage, and if it could be shown that he had perjured himself, it would impeach his credibility as a witness.

Elliott referred to the testimony taken on the 2d instant, in which Harney said he was married in July, 1867, to Annie Prior, and that he had no wife when he was here as an assistant doorkeeper. Elliott quoted Judge Story to show that if witness does not testify correctly in relation to a fact about which he could not be mistaken, he is not entitled to credence.

Clymer also took the ground that it was now competent to pursue the question so as to show the character of the man; for if Harney was not married at the time he boarded with Mrs. Murray, he lived in adulterous intercourse with a woman there. Clymer asked the question of Mrs. Murray: Did you have any doubt that the woman who lived with Harney at your house was his wife? Answer—I would not have boarded them if I had not thought they were married. I keep a respectable boarding house, and would not have boarded a man and woman who were not married for $100 a day.

A. P Greene was called and contradicted Harney's testimony in several particulars, and said he did not believe that Harney ever paid Speaker Kerr a cent of the money that he (Greene) paid to Harney.

J. S. Moore testified to an interview with Harney in New York with regard to the anonymous letter sent to Kerr, when Harney said Geo. Bliss was crowding him, and that Bliss and Johnnie Davenport wanted to make political capital out of the charge against Kerr, and that they were damned rascals and scoundrels. It appeared from Moore's testimony that Kerr, through the advice of friends, engaged Sidney Webster to find out the writer of the anonymous letter so as to have him prosecuted, it being thought that bringing the matter before the criminal court would have the effect of punishing a conspiracy.

A written statement from Speaker Kerr was read by Elliott in the presence of the Speaker. He repeated he never consciously knew Harney; never talked with him on business matters, and that Harney certainly never offered or gave him any money. The statement was utterly and wickedly false. The Speaker explained at length the circumstances attending the appointment of Greene.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Don Cameron Sworn In.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The oath of office was administered to Don Cameron this morning by Judge McArthur, and soon after Cameron began the performance of his new duties at the War Department. At the same time Judge Taft qualified as Attorney General.

Nominations Confirmed.

The Senate to-day confirmed the nomination of Edwin F. Beale to be minister to Austria, and Chas. N. Harris to be register of the land office at Carson City, Nevada.

Postal Changes.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Mrs. Jane Ross, Milwaukie, Clackamas county, Oregon, has been appointed postmistress.

Civil Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The House appropriation committee further considered the sundry civil appropriation bill to-day. All the estimates are largely increased wherever thought practicable. The estimates for life saving stations repairs of lighthouses, etc., have not been reduced. All the estimates for new buildings are stricken out.

Blaine Investigation.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The judiciary committee met this morning at 10 o'clock, but through misunderstanding about the hour of meeting, neither Blaine nor Frye were present, and the committee adjourned till to-morrow.

The Tribune's Washington special thinks the Democrats released witnesses Atkins, Fisher and Mulligan expressly to leave Blaine in a bad position before the Cincinnati convention. Blaine's friends will be very much disappointed if he allows his enemies to overthrow him in this. While nothing authentic can be learned from him in regard to his intentions, it would not be strange if he were to ask the House to-morrow, or next day at the farthest, to hear him in personal explanation. He would probably put the case before the House and country in the strongest light. As the case now stands, Blaine's nomination is doubtful if not impossible, but still two delegates to the Cincinnati convention who were not supporters of Blaine returned to their homes yesterday after a brief visit to Washington. Before leaving they told a friend they should vote for Blaine on the first ballot. They had watched the investigation with great interest, and were very indignant at the unfairness with which it had been conducted.

WEST INDIES.

Battle in Cuba.

HAVANA, June 4.—The town of Ciego De Avila, in the jurisdiction of Santa Spiritu, was attacked on the night of May 26th by the insurgent leader, Maximo Gomez, with 1,000 men mostly mounted. The place was defended by a garrison 100 strong. The insurgents were repulsed after desperate fight, and retired without being pursued. They lost 5 killed and about 70 wounded. The Spanish casualties were two officers killed and three men wounded.

The Mountaineer understands that arrangements are being made, whereby some portion of the immigration which has been crowding into California may be brought into Eastern Oregon. The owners of the Dalles Military Road lands are disseminating information through circulars, advertisements, maps and agencies in San Francisco, Salt Lake and Omaha, as to the climate, soil, agricultural and stock growing capacities of that section of Oregon.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Legislative business was suspended at 1 o'clock, and the consideration of articles of impeachment against Belknap resumed. The accused, with Carpenter, was present as well as the managers on the part of the House. After reading the journal of Monday's session, the President pro tem announced the judgment of the Senate overruling the plea of defendant as to jurisdiction.

White submitted an order that the accused be ordered to plead further, or answer the articles of impeachment within ten days of this date.

Carpenter addressed the Senate in opposition to the order.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Mitchell introduced a bill to establish a post route from Grindell via Daige's sheep ranch, Camp Eaton and Granite Creek to Olive Creek in Oregon.

Ingalls called up the Senate bill to carry out in part the provisions of the act of March 3, 1873, to abolish the tribal relations of Miami Indians and for other purposes. Passed.

Booth presented the petition of the shipping commissioner of San Francisco, remonstrating against the passage of the law amending the shipping act of 1875, as proposed by the House bill, referred to committee on commerce.

Sherman called up his resolution proposing a common unit of money and accounts for the United States of America and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

Morrill opposed the resolution and it was laid over for further consideration.

Sargent, from the conference committee on the consular and diplomatic appropriation bills, reported that the committee had been unable to agree, and moved that a new committee be appointed; agreed to, and the Chair appointed Sargent, House and Bogy as the sub committee.

The Senate then resumed the consideration of unfinished business, being the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. The amendments of the committee on appropriations reducing the compensation of clerks in the office of the secretary of the Interior, were agreed to.

When the clause appropriating $10,000 for rent of building for U. S. Pension office and Bureau of Education was reached, a long discussion ensued and an amendment was at last adopted which appropriates $16,000 for that purpose, and authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to procure a fire proof building, with suitable accommodations for those offices, for a rent not exceeding that paid for the Seaton house and to rent the same instead of the Seaton house. The appropriation for stationery, carpets, repairs of building, painting, etc., of the pension office, was reduced from $25,500 to $17,500. All the other amendments of the committee restoring the salaries of employes in the Bureau of Education, Postoffice Department, and Departments of Justice and Agriculture, were agreed to.

Sherman, of Ohio, submitted an amendment providing that all powers of transfer and suspension of officers, held by the supervisors of internal revenue, shall hereafter be conferred upon the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the other powers of the supervisors shall hereafter be exercised by collectors of internal revenue, agreed to. Without further important action the Senate adjourned.

House.

The committee on elections offered a resolution declaring Bennett, the sitting delegate from Idaho, not entitled to his seat, ordered to be printed.

The resolution of Adams, that legislation on the tariff at this time is inexpedient, was referred to the committee on ways and means, by a vote of 111 to 99.

Neal offered a bill to repeal the resumption act of January 14th, 1875, and called the previous question on the bill.

Kasson raised a point of order that no notice of the bill had been given, and therefore the bill was not in order.

Speaker Cox decided the point well taken.

Holman appealed from the decision, and on motion of Morrison, the appeal was laid on the table, 134 to 113.

Blaine rising to a question of privilege, proceeded to address the House.

After stating that the democratic members of the judiciary committee had not dared to bring him before the house for refusing to produce the private letters taken from him by Mulligan, Blaine announced his intention to read every one of them to the House. There was a great sensation in the hall and Blaine was several times interrupted by applause. He said that when the resolution directing an investigation of the $64,000 paid by the U. P. R. R. Co. for Fort Smith & Little Rock bonds was offered, he was assured that it too was aimed at. But the committee had no sooner begun its investigation than it was apparent it was aimed at him solely and not at the railroad company. The committee had examined all its witnesses and the testimony had cleared him from the slanders that had been circulated to his detriment. The last week spent here was a drag in the proceedings and the committee decided to go into the examination of the N. P. R. R. and investigate a little transaction which occurred years ago in Boston between himself and a friend which was no transaction at all. The committee claimed power to do so under the general resolution instructing them to examine into the transaction of the railroad company. To-day he was informed the committee on the real estate pool had also started an investigation aimed at him, without notice to himself. It was a singular fact that the Democratic members of the sub committee appointed by the chairman of the full committee, had both been in the rebel army, and they feel bitter against him on account of the amnesty debate. The committee tried to get at his private correspondence, and a delegation came here loaded with his letters to make a sensation. In getting possession of his letters held by Mulligan, he did what he felt to be his duty. The Democrats did not dare to bring the question of his right to the letters into the House. "Having vindicated my right," said Blaine, "to those letters, I now go farther, and will read those letters to the House and abide by the judgment of 44,000,000 of people. It is humiliating, however, to be forced to produce private correspondence, but it is better for me to do so than to submit to the insinuations. Here are the letters," said he holding a package to view and taking out the first letter from the package, he read it, and the rest in their order. On the conclusion of the reading of the memorandum made from them by Mulligan, Blaine appealed to the House to say whether any member's private correspondence would better bear search. He then said with reference to the $64,000 bond transaction that the testimony of Caldwell would make his vindication complete, and inquired of the chairman of the judiciary committee whether a telegram had been sent to Caldwell. Knott replied he had not yet ascertained Caldwell's address. Blaine asked if Knott had not received a telegram from Caldwell last Thursday morning completely corroborating Col. Scott's testimony and exonerating him, Blaine. Knott declined to reply at present. Blaine then argued that such a telegram was received by Knott and charged that the latter had suppressed it. (Tremendous cheering and applause.) Blaine then offered a resolution on which he demanded the previous question, making same inquiry of the judiciary committee that he had made of Knott.

The first letter Blaine read was addressed to Fisher and dated 1871. It referred to a settlement between Spencer and Fisher and contained an allusion to a ten thousand dollar note given for Spencer rifle stock. Blaine said an explanation was necessary in reference to this note. Two years before he came into Congress the persons who owned the patent for the Spencer rifle came to him and said the rifle ring in Washington was so strong that they could get no chance for a contract. He came to Washington and succeeded in getting the war department to recognize the Spencer rifle, for which service he was paid a reasonable fee. Afterwards, before he came into Congress, he was asked and took ten thousand dollars of Spencer rifle stock, which he had paid for. The next three letters contained nothing important and referred mainly to the settlement between himself and Fisher. The fifth letter referred to a decision made by Blaine as speaker on the last night of the session in 1869, ruling out an amendment offered by Julian, to annex the Memphis and El Paso bill to the bill relating to the Little Rock road. General Logan at the suggestion of the speaker, made a point of order against the amendment and the speaker ruled it out. This was some months before he, (Blaine,) ever invested in the stock of the road. The additional letters were then read in full. Blaine making explanations in regard to one which referred to some of the Union Pacific bonds, which Blaine said belonged to a member of his family, Gail Hamilton and upon which he had lent money. These bonds never belonged to him. There were three other papers and additional letters relating to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company of which Blaine said nothing, except that he would have them printed in the Record with the letters. The memorandum of letters made by Mulligan were then read at the clerk's desk. Blaine then said this was all. Blaine having finished reading the letters he said he had been completely exonerated by all the witnesses. As for the $64,000 bonds charge there was one witness whose testimony he wanted in order to make his vindication complete. This was Joseph Caldwell. He would ask Knott the chairman of the judiciary committee, whether he had telegraphed to Caldwell and he wanted a categorical answer.

Knott said he had failed to get his address.

Blaine wanted to know whether they had received any dispatch from Caldwell.

Knott said he would answer at the proper time.

Blaine stepping down the aisle in front of the speaker said he had information that on last Thursday morning Knott had received a telegram from Josiah Caldwell completely exonerating him Blaine from the charges made against him, and that Knott had suppressed that dispatch. (Here occurred such a scene as has seldom been witnessed.) Blaine's assertion was received with prolonged applause, the entire Republican side of the House beginning it and the crowd joining in until the speaker's gavel could not be heard. The applause lasted for some minutes and when order had been restored Blaine said he would conclude by offering a resolution calling upon the judiciary committee to report forthwith to the House whether any telegram had been received from Caldwell and if so, its contents. (The greatest confusion reigned for some minutes, and the Speaker ordered the doorkeepers to remove from the floor all persons not entitled to it.) When quiet had been restored, Hunter, chairman of the sub judiciary committee, was recognized. Hunter made statements as to the resolutions which had passed the House ordering investigations, and declared that Blaine expressed his satisfaction with the names selected for the sub committee. He found fault with Blaine who preferred to come to the House occasionally with his grievances and find out what was going on in the committee room before the committee finished its investigation. Hunter said Blaine had counted on a quick investigation and complained of the dilatoriness on the part of the committee. He (Blaine) really retarded the work. Coming down to the Mulligan matter, Hunter said the moment Mulligan mentioned the fact that he had letters of Blaine, the latter whispered to Lawrence to move an adjournment. Lawrence explained he (Blaine) was ill, and in justice to Blaine declared the motion was made on that account only, and not because Blaine was injured by what was going on.

Hunter then spoke of Blaine's acquiring possession of the letters, and considered the letters the property of Mulligan. He said Blaine had invited him to the House to read the letters, but he decided not to go, unless the whole committee were so privileged.

Blaine—Does the gentleman from Virginia know of a dispatch received from Josiah Caldwell, in London?

Hunter—My friend the chairman of the judiciary committee, will reply to you in full on that subject.

Blaine—Then I ask you to state whether, on Thursday morning last the gentleman from Kentucky (Knott) did not call you out of the committee room and acquaint you of that fact?

Hunter—If my friend from Kentucky does not answer you in full, I will.

Knott took the floor and said he had listened to the imputations upon himself within the last two hours, and should now attempt to answer them. He did not want a personal encounter, but the gentleman from Maine had led him in unnecessarily. He defended Hunter and Ashe and considered them the superiors of Blaine. [Hisses from the Republican side.]

Knott—That is all right. There are three kinds of animals in the world that hiss—vipers, geese and fools. [Laughter.] Knott declared that the subcommittee was formed before Blaine's connection with railroads was ever suggested. He twitted Blaine with extreme anxiety on a variety of subjects, and suggested that Blaine was watching carefully for the Cincinnati convention. For his own part he hoped Blaine would be nominated, as he would be easy to beat. If he shall receive the nomination and be elected by the American people, in the face of all these facts, then all I can say is, may the Lord have mercy on the American people. [Shouts of laughter.] Knott said the judiciary committee was to disclose the ownership of letters to-morrow. He censured Blaine for coming before the House at this juncture, in such a way for such a purpose. There might have been a grave question presented to the consideration of the House growing out of these letters; and that question is whether, after the House has committed the question for investigation to the committee, the authority of the House can be trifled with by having witnesses who have been summoned before that committee met by the wayside and pumped dry. The documentary evidence in their possession was obtained from them surreptitiously, and a contemptuous refusal was made to the demand of the committee to deliver it up. As to the cable dispatch from Josiah Caldwell, it is true that last Thursday morning I did receive a dispatch. The gentleman from Maine seems to know the precise hour at which I received it and its contents. He seems thoroughly posted on the subject. But permit me to say with regard to the insinuation that the telegram has been suppressed, that any man, high or low, whoever he may be, who will make such an insinuation, will have to take the consequences. I hurl the falsehood back into the teeth of any man who makes a suggestion as to the suppression of that dispatch. [Applause on the Democratic side.] I received it. I did not suppress it at all in less than thirty minutes after I received it. I read it to several gentlemen, but there was no particular address in London from which it purported to come and I did not believe, and I am not altogether certain yet that I do not believe it was a fixed up job. [Murmurs of dissent from the Republican side.] Hale and Frye besought Knott to read the dispatch. The latter replied, When I get ready I will.

Frye—If the gentleman refuses to produce that dispatch, I will be entirely satisfied that Mr. Blaine has not learned the whole of it, and I desire to ask if there is not something else which is kept back.

Knott—No, sir; will that satisfy you? (Garfield and several other Republicans read it.)

Knott—Will the gentlemen possess their souls in patience? I have not the dispatch here. It is at my house. The contents are substantially as stated by the gentleman from Maine—Mr. Blaine—I don't know that I can repeat it in exact terms, but the purport is that Caldwell had seen Scott's testimony in the New York papers and that it was substantially correct; that he had not let Blaine have any bonds, and that he would send an affidavit to that effect; but that he was engaged in a railroad enterprise over there and could not come to give his testimony without serious pecuniary loss. This is substantially what is in it, and if the gentleman had only waited, that dispatch would have been presented to the committee for whatever use the committee might see proper to make of it. I had no desire to injure the gentleman from Maine personally, and especially not politically, but I desire that the truth may be told. As for myself, I had no knowledge of any transaction by the gentleman from Maine inconsistent with the highest personal integrity. I do not desire that he should be injured in the least, but I do desire that, with relation to every person guilty of wrong, we shall turn the gas on and let the people see. [Laughter and applause.]

Blaine moved the previous question on the resolution, and was attempting to make further remarks; but was prevented by loud calls of order and by the Speaker's ruling that he was not entitled to the floor for that purpose.

The House refused to second the previous question, and then, on motion of Banning, the motion of Blaine was referred to the committee on the judiciary. Yeas, 124; nays 97, and the House, after a day of great excitement, adjourned.

ARRIVAL OF THE FAST TRAIN.

Jarrett & Palmer's Train on Time.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Jarrett & Palmer's train arrived at the end of Oakland wharf, which is within the city limits of San Francisco, at 9:25 A. M., being 26 minutes less than eighty four hours from New York, and arrived at the wharf on this side at 9:45 A. M., and at 9:52½ A. M. alighted in the court of the Palace Hotel, dusty and travelworn, but in good health and spirits. Engine No. 149 brought the train through from Ogden with the assistance of additional engines in crossing the Sierras. Time from Ogden to San Francisco, 23 hours and 52 minutes. Actual average running time from Ogden to Oakland wharf 41½ miles per hour. Considerable trouble was experienced on the Central Pacific from the wearing out of the brake-shoes on the Pennsylvania cars, and when in the mountains the Central Pacific Company put on two of their own coaches to brake the train. No accident of any kind occurred throughout the trip. Shortly after arrival here, breakfast was served, to which many prominent citizens, army and navy officers, representatives of the press, theatrical professionals, railroad officials, and the mayor of the city were invited. A salute of thirteen guns were fired from the roof of the Palace Hotel on the arrival of the party at the wharf. The rest of the day was devoted to needed rest. A serenade took place in the evening.

The Trip of the Fast Train.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The city papers this morning give a full account of the trip of the lightning train. The journey seems to have been made without a single accident of special importance occurring on the way—everything working smoothly and in accordance with preconcerted arrangements. The exact time of the trip computed by Prof. Davidson of the coast survey, between Jersey City and Oakland Point, was 83 hours 32 minutes 7 seconds, 21 minutes and 38 seconds being occupied in the trip across the bay. Throughout the journey the arrival of the train at the different stations was enthusiastically greeted by the inhabitants with cheers, bonfires, fireworks and illuminations.

At Stockton the engines of the Visalia division backed up to the track, greeting the passage of the train with a grand chorus of whistling, in which the excited crowd joined, waving banners and As early as 6 o'clock yesterday morning, Market street, from the Palace Hotel to the ferry slip was thronged with people, waiting for the arrival of the excursionists, and the Palace Hotel was besieged by the crowd as soon as the first gun was fired from the roof announcing the landing of the party at the wharf. The party were a dusty looking lot all changes of clothing before leaving the train having been tabooed by common consent, on motion of Lawrence Barret who moved to carry the dust of the journey to the hotel in triumph. The most exciting part of the whole run was from Summit to Rocklin, 82½ miles, involving a descent of 6467 feet. At the former station the brakes were locked and steam shut off, and with the impetus of the descent, the train dashed down grade at the rate of 40 miles an hour. Hank Small, the engineer, stood at the throttle valve from Ogden to Oakland wharf, with the exception of a brief interval between Winnemucca and Truckee, and is the hero of the occasion. All the party express themselves enthusiastically over the success of the trip and the completeness of the arrangements for comfort and safety throughout the journey.

Herald on the Fast Train.

The Herald's editorial on the fast train says, perhaps the most remarkable thing about the journey is that it had not required any other appliance to complete it than those already in use except its injection of that quality which to-day we'll call "enterprise." To all concerned in it a debt of gratitude is due. What is to-day a wonder in the transcontinental journey will not be easily surpassed or even equalled for many days but as it shows that that thing can be done, we hope to see a regular train soon attempt to emulate and so move back farther into the dark ages the time when the old emigrant road across the plains was strewn with the graves of men who started with horse and wagon, and when the pony express seemed a revelation.

The World on the Fast Train.

The World's editorial, speaking of the fast train, says everything considered, the feat is really remarkable. In their flight the passengers climbed three great mountain ranges and crossed two great rivers of the continent. The train too had for most of the way, to depend on a single track road, and some of these roads are inferior in ballast and ties and line. Notwithstanding, the whole performance surpassed that of the great English train which runs nightly from London to Edinborough and Holyhead even without taking into consideration the fact that the wild Irishman and mad Scotch man only travel hundreds of miles where what may be styled the go ahead Yankee travels thousands. The fast train has, of course, been peculiarly an advertisement for its managers, but it will have at least the additional effect of calling public attention to the possibility and advisability of extending our fast mail system.

Suicide of the Late Turkish Sultan.

The Turkish minister of foreign affairs has addressed the following telegram to the Turkish minister at Washington:

"CONSTANTINOPLE, June 4.—A sad event just painfully affected our august Sovereign and his government. Abdul Aziz Khan, late Sultan, who for some time past has unfortunately given signs of mental derangement, having locked himself up this morning in his apartments of palace of Tcharangen, committed suicide by opening the veins of his arms with scissors, which he had concealed on his person.

The Imperial government hastened to cause a legal inquest to be made, also, a detailed medical report, which will be forwarded to you very soon. All ministers and high officers, both civil and military, will be present at the funeral of His Majesty, which will take place with the accustomed pomp and honors due to the deceased, whose body will be laid in the mausoleum of Sultan Mahmon.

The Sultan Committed Suicide.

LONDON, June 5.—The Times' correspondent at Paris says the physicians of the British and other embassies at Constantinople say that the late Sultan committed suicide by cutting the arteries of both arms with a pair of scissors. He died at Teheragan palace at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, and was buried in the tomb of Mohammed Sunday evening. One telegram received in Paris asserts that the Sultan stabbed himself with a dagger in the region of the heart. It is generally remarked in Paris as strange that Abdul Aziz, who had always shown himself so feeble, should have suddenly so much energy; and at the same time that his death was of so little importance to any one that it seemed repugnant to reason to attribute it to assassination.

The Late Sultan's Suicide.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 5.—It is officially announced that a report has been drawn up and signed by nineteen physicians of different nationalities, which certifies that the death of Abdul Aziz resulted from the opening of the arteries below the bend of the left arm and the veins of the right arm. All the ministers attended the funeral of the late Sultan. The Porte has officially notified foreign ambassadors of Murad's accession and commanded recognition.

Critical Situation in Europe.

LONDON, June 5.—The North German Gazette gives us to understand that owing to antagonism between Russia and England, all Europe is plunged into a most critical situation. The National Zeitung regards the pacific view recently taken by Count Andrassy as entirely erroneous, and forcasts that a momentous decision will have to be adopted by the various powers. The Times' correspondent remarks that there is too much reason for the apprehension, and adds that the King of Greece has ordered his army to be placed on a war footing. A special commissioner has arrived in Germany to negotiate a Greek war loan. He is expected to settle it immediately. This serious movement is accompanied by others of like importance.

Th[illegible] [illegible]tened Attack on Turkey.

Further dispatches from Berlin to the Times state that the declaration of the Montenegrin Official Gazette that the insurgents are determined to immediately fall upon the Turks with the whole Servian race, must be considered authentic.

Wesselitzki, the Russian agent in Herzegovina, having published an address turning the military and diplomatic direction of insurgent affairs over to the Prince of Montenegro, the Servian troops have been ranged on the frontier ready to act at a moment's notice. The central staff has gone to Alexinatz, near the Turkish camp at Nish. The principal Servian force, however, is stationed at Los Nitze, where pontoon bridges are being constructed preparatory to crossing the Dwina into Bosnia. Various fortified camps have been established along the frontier. The Russian General Tchernayeff, who has assumed command of the Servian forces, on his arrival at Belgrade, han[illegible] the Servian government $200,000 as a donation from the Sclavonic societies of Russia. Bulgaria is also being set on fire by hosts of well armed volunteers, who are arriving daily from Russia, Servia, Roumania and Montenegro, have established fortified camps amply armed with cannon. Notwithstanding these difficulties the attitude of the Porte continues firm, and the recent reform firman of Abdul Aziz has been specially withdrawn in some places. Special envoys have been sent to Morocco and Tunis to ask for assistance. A crisis is unavoidable unless Russia retracts. Russia is unprepared for the present contingency and is slow to decide. There is a feeling in Berlin that we are on the eve of momentous changes, and every hour may bring important news.

Russia Attributes the Revolution to English Intervention.

VIENNA, June 5.—The papers say that Prince Gortschakoff is greatly irritated, attributing the occurrence of the Turkish revolution to English intervention. The British government recently suggested that the warfare which is being waged against the Turks in Servia and Montenegro should be treated as a breach of the peace of Europe, committed by Russia.

Foreign Crop Prospects.

LONDON, June 5.—The Mark Lane Express says the harvest prospects are fairly hopeful, despite some drawbacks. The weather recently has been, on the whole, advantageous to the wheat plant. The state of political affairs in the East are beginning to exercise a marked influence in both monetary and commercial circles. It cannot be denied that the possibilities of war may become, at any moment stern realities. Consequently the daily course of foreign politics is being anxiously watched, and should the worst ensue, we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that, with the rapid diminution of stocks abroad and of the visible supply in America, a great alteration in the present range of prices in our market will in all probability occur. However, political influences have not yet effected our markets to any extent, and our present position is simply one of careful watching. Supplies of wheat from abroad during the week have been fair. No feeling of depression has shown itself. Millers still operate sparingly; but transactions in this quarter are expected to show more animation, as the stocks of English wheat in farmers hands are believed to be unusually small. The fine weather on the continent has caused a somewhat diminished enquiry on the part of continental buyers.

Sad Tragedy.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—A sad tragedy was enacted yesterday at Badger's Park, East Oakland. It seems that some time ago Peter Chisholm, a book-keeper in the employ of Higgins & Conkling, stock brokers of this city, had some trifling difficulty with a fellow clerk named T. B. Mortee, and the latter sent in his resignation, stating that it was impossible to get along with Chisholm. Nothing further was thought of the affair, and it was considered by all parties concerned as forgotten. Early yesterday morning Mr. Chisholm, who has resided at Tubbs' Hotel in East Oakland for several months past, proceeded to the City Hall livery stable, in Oakland, and procured a horse for the purpose, as was his custom, of taking a ride. He wended his way to Badger's Park and there met Mortee, and a few words were indulged in and the affair ended by the latter person taking a large piece of scantling from the ground and striking Chisholm a fearful blow over the head. Friends at once assisted Chisholm to his room in Tubbs' hotel, and medical attendance was called in. The physician pronounced the case hopeless, as the skull was crushed in. Mr. Chisholm lingered for seven hours and then death relieved him of suffering. This morning, Oakland officers arrived in the city for the purpose of arresting Mortee, and two local officers are aiding them in their search for him. He has not been found yet.

Mortee, who killed Chisholm at Badger's Park, surrendered himself to the authorities this evening, and was locked up for examination.

Anti-Chinese Row in Nevada.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—A dispatch from Carson, Nevada, reports that from 60 to 100 armed men, supposed to be the anti-Coolie Club of that city, stopped a gravel train near the tunnel a mile west of the town, on the Nevada & Truckee Railroad, and turned the Chinese laborers on the train and would not allow them to work. All kinds of rumors are afloat, and it is reported that both parties are arming in anticipation of a fight. Chinatown is in danger of being burned. The excitement is intense.

Explosion in a Billiard Saloon.

Yesterday morning about two o'clock an explosion took place in the billiard saloon kept by Captain Martin, located in the Occidental building, on the corner of Fort and Government streets. On examination of the saloon, a strong smell of gunpowder and a cloud of smoke were noticed. Some slight damage was done, and every window in the room suffered more or less; but the damage was not serious. Rumors are currently set afloat that it was caused by incendiaries, but on communicating with Martin it became evident that it was an accident.

Beacon Hill Races.

The race at Beacon Hill yesterday was witnessed by a large crowd. Great delay was caused by the failure to obtain any one to act as starter. YOUNG MEN
[W]ho may be suffering from the effect of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. Dr. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness, or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure. He would, therefore say to the unfortunate sufferer who may read this notice, that you are treading upon dangerous ground when you longer delay in seeking the proper remedy for your complaint. You may be in the first stage, remember you are approaching the last. If you are bordering upon the last, and are suffering some or all its effects, remember that if you persist in procrastination, the time must come when the most skillful physician can render you no assistance; when the door of hope will be closed against you; when no angel of mercy can bring you relief. In no case has the Doctor failed of success. Then let not despair work upon your imagination, but avail yourself of the beneficial results of his treatment before your case is beyond the reach of medical skill, or before grim death hurries you to a premature grave. Full course of treatment $25.00. Send money by Post Office order or Express, with full description of the case. Call, or address

The World on the Chinese Agitation.

[illegible] the World says: "The anti-[illegible] on the Pacific coast has in all [illegible] been given more prominence than it deserves. Those who participated in it are generally [illegible] small politicians anxious to [illegible] with laborers and artisans, who, [illegible] ally in time of commercial depression [illegible] easily aroused, and sensation mongers [illegible] accept the offered opportunity to write [illegible] invert a few details to suit [illegible]. Behind him is the hoodlum element [illegible] anything which promises riot and [illegible] in the midst of the turmoil [illegible] agitations. It is not easy for the [illegible] sense to be heard, and [illegible] or silenced by prejudice [illegible] venture the prediction that if the [illegible] of California could be polled, [illegible] overwhelming majority, declare [illegible] anti-Mongolian crusade is as [illegible]. The World thinks [illegible] of immigration and [illegible] hundred years there [illegible] in the country. Besides, [illegible] defeats itself, for in the [illegible] that Celestials pour in [illegible] it is also charged that they do not [illegible] to stay and [illegible]—canized, but as soon as [illegible] a little money they take it [illegible] to the Flowery Kingdom. If [illegible] pay taxes, rents and fares and earn [illegible] which they wear and consume, [illegible] must be a gainer. If they work for [illegible] other people, there is a saving of [illegible] will find other investment. Inas[illegible] [illegible] denunciations of Chinese [illegible] who do not work, except when [illegible] starvation, the Chinese have rather [illegible] argument, so with the moral [illegible]. The prison statistics of California show the average of crime [illegible] to be lower than among the rest [illegible]. If Chinese prostitutes are luring the gilded youths of San Francisco with [illegible] of Asia, does not the fault rest [illegible] youth? It is by no means flattering [illegible] pride that in this centennial year [illegible] as this should be waged and that [illegible] and energy should be displayed [illegible] of uncivilized heathens.

Fire.

[illegible], June 5.—Pitt Cooke's mill on Lumber [illegible] burned to-day. Loss, $150,000; insured [illegible] on stock only.

[illegible] Shall be Done with the Geneva Award.

[illegible] says what to do with the balance of the [illegible], amounting to $5,000,000 is a puzzling [illegible]. The matter will come before the House [illegible] purposes offering an amendment [illegible] the payment from this sum to such persons [illegible] prove physical disability probably at [illegible] raids of cruisers. There is a strong [illegible] in favor of this amendment.

[illegible] on the Appropriation Bills.

New York, June 5.—Dispatches to several journals [illegible] there are signs of a prolonged and somewhat [illegible] quarrel between the House and Senate [illegible] the appropriation bills, the session drawing [illegible] end both bodies being willing to yield [illegible]. There is no doubt that the Senate could [illegible] concede considerable reduction to [illegible] and it has in fact done so.

The Belknap Impeachment Case.

The Times' Washington special does not think [illegible] impeachment case will go much farther. The court could only pronounce him guilty, [illegible] fully conceded, and prevent his holding [illegible] in the future, which, of course, is unnecessary. [illegible] has subpenaed Gen. [illegible] in the Chicago Mayoralty Case.

Chicago, June 5.—In the circuit court this morning, [illegible] sitting, Baker gave an adverse [illegible] in the mayoralty case of Colvin vs Hoyne. [illegible] of the judges, McAllister, Williams [illegible] decide that since the city council neglected to call an election for mayor at the time Mr. Colvin's term expired and since such a [illegible] try to secure a valid election that the [illegible] cast for Mr. Hoyne are nugatory and [illegible] Mr. Colvin holds his office until an election is duly called by the council. Judges Farwell and [illegible] read dissenting opinions in effect that the [illegible] of the council to perform its duty does not [illegible] the votes cast, because the law is mandatory and an election may legally be held notwithstanding such dereliction on the part of the council.

Chicago City Officers' Squabble.

Chicago, June 5.—In the city council to-night Mayor Colvin presided. An ordinance was introduced, declaring an election for Mayor June 27th and was referred to the judiciary committee with instructions to report on it Wednesday.

Boiler Explosion in St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 5.—Shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, one of the boilers of the Collier White Lead Works, corner of Tenth and Clark avenues, exploded with terrific force, demolishing the south eastern part of the building and severely injuring several employes. Railroad Sold.

New York, June 5.—The New York and Boston [illegible] of the New York, Boston & Montreal Railroad was sold to-day under a first mortgage bond [illegible] for $3,250,000. It was purchased by the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, who are [illegible] for the benefit of the bondholders. Steps will be taken immediately to reorganize the road and put into operation the line of fifty five miles between New York and Brewster station. It will require an outlay of $75,000 to put the road in proper working order.

The World on Blaine's Prospects.

The World's editorial says: We do not concur in the general opinion that Blaine is dead for Presidential candidate. The haste shown by his Republican brethren to administer upon his political estate seems to us rather premature. His prospects have been badly injured, but he is not the man to give up while he has a chance left and he knows it. He has now to choose between making a tremendous fight for the nomination and utter political ruin. As candidate of the Republican party, Republican papers, even those which abuse him now—would be obliged to maintain his innocence and purity. Defeat at the polls in such circumstances would be infinitely better for him than retirement under the imputations now cast upon him. The writer continues: Blaine's failure will render the success of any of his rivals impossible. Another political possibility long left out of the calculation is beginning to grow serious. When the leading candidates have exhausted their energies and blackened each other's characters in the canvass and find that none of them can compass the nomination, it is not altogether unlikely that they will all prefer to surrender to their present master or rules rather than yield to the eleventh hour man who has not borne the heat and burden of the day. In such contingency Grant would come forward in triumph amid the acclamations of the convention. He is in one sense a new man, for while the land is strewn with ruins of Republican reputations shattered, nobody has thought it worth while to use him of late. He will represent unity, discipline, organization, and is not unlikely to be chosen with clamorous exultation.

THE KERR INVESTIGATION.

More Explanation Wanted from Kerr.

The Times has a long special showing Speaker Kerr's record in the famous McGarraghan claim, which shows that Kerr thought the claim just, and afterwards opposed it in every form and shape, denouncing McGarraghan and espousing the cause of the New Idria company. The active man of the latter company was R. K. Elliott, who now appears as Kerr's counsel in the Green Harney charges. During Panoche Grande contest in 1871 it was observed that Kerr sustained most intimate relations with Thompson Elliott, and other representatives, and the attorneys of New Idria company. The money used during Kerr's candidacy for speakership was said to be contributed by the Idria company. There is some comment on Kerr's taking of the ironclad oath, considering the testimony in Indiana treason cases of 1864, where one of the witnesses swore as follows: "Do you know whether Mr. Michael C. Kerr is a member of this order or not, The Sons of Liberty." Answer—He was. I initiated him in New Albany, Indiana at a harness shop on the right hand side of Main street as you go east, I believe at Mr. Graff's." Kerr in 1866 is said to have denied on the stump that he was a member of the order or ever saw the witness, but the testimony at the time was unimpeached and undisputed, and in the face of it he treats it as false and takes the ironclad. A witness will be subpenaed who is expected to testify as to Strouse, Ex-Congressman, having appointed a man for pay. The testimony to impeach Harney will be forthcoming to-morrow. It is said Bowen will be put on the stand to prove that he lived with some woman he represented to be his wife.

The committee on expenditures in the war department continued investigation into the charge against Speaker Kerr. Mrs. T. Murray testified that she had resided on Capitol Hill since 1865, and kept boarders there. In December, 1865, Lawrence Harney hired a room at her house; in 1866 he also had a room there with his wife, and both took their meals there. Danforth raised a point as to how far the committee would go in this part of the matter, taking the ground that witness could not be contradicted on an immaterial or collateral question. Elliott, counsel for Kerr, replied, taking the ground that it was competent to show by antecedents of witness that he was a competent witness. Blackburn said if Harney had deliberately sworn falsely as to his married life, it was entitled to know whether such was the fact. Danforth expected his objection, and asked whether this committee was not bound by the same rules that a court would enforce, and whether witness would not be entitled to protection. Blackburn said the committee was not bound by the strict technical rules that govern courts. The question was as to the date of Harney's marriage, and if it could be shown that he had perjured himself, it would impeach his credibility as a witness.

Elliott referred to the testimony taken on the 2d instant, in which Harney said he was married in July, 1867, to Annie Prior, and that he had no wife when he was here as an assistant doorkeeper. Elliott quoted Judge Story to show that if witness does not testify correctly in relation to a fact about which he could not be mistaken, he is not entitled to credence.

Clymer also took the ground that it was now competent to pursue the question so as to show the character of the man; for if Harney was not married at the time he boarded with Mrs. Murray he lived in adulterous intercourse with a woman there. Clymer asked the question of Mrs. Murray: Did you have any doubt that the woman who lived with Harney at your house was his wife? Answer—I would not have boarded them if I had not thought they were married. I keep a respectable boarding house, and would not have boarded a man and woman who were not married for $100 a day.

A. P. Greene was called and contradicted Harney's testimony in several particulars, and said he did not believe that Harney ever paid Speaker Kerr a cent of the money that he (Greene) paid to Harney.

J. S. Moore testified to an interview with Harney in New York with regard to the anonymous letter sent to Kerr, when Harney said Geo. Bliss was crowding him, and that Bliss and Johnnie Davenport wanted to make political capital out of the charge against Kerr, and that they were damned rascals and scoundrels. It appeared from Moore's testimony that Kerr, through the advice of friends, engaged Sidney Webster to find out the writer of the anonymous letter so as to have him prosecuted, it being thought that bringing the matter before the criminal court would have the effect of punishing a conspiracy.

A written statement from Speaker Kerr was read by Elliott in the presence of the Speaker. He repeated he never consciously knew Harney, never talked with him on business matters, and that Harney certainly never offered or gave him any money. The statement was utterly and wickedly false. The Speaker explained at length the circumstances attending the appointment of Greene.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Don Cameron Sworn In.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The oath of office was administered to Don Cameron this morning by Judge McArthur and soon after Cameron began the performance of his new duties at the War Department. At the same time Judge Taft qualified as Attorney General.

Nominations Confirmed.

The Senate to-day confirmed the nomination of Edwin F. Beale to be minister to Austria and Chas. N. Harris to be register of the land office at Carson City, Nevada.

Postal Changes.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Mrs. Jane Ross, Milwaukie, Clackamas county, Oregon, has been appointed postmistress.

Civil Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The House appropriation committee further considered the sundry civil appropriation bill to-day. All the estimates are largely increased wherever thought practicable. The estimates for life saving stations, repairs of lighthouses, etc., have not been reduced. All the estimates for new buildings are stricken out.

Blaine Investigation.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The judiciary committee met this morning at 10 o'clock, but through misunderstanding about the hour of meeting neither Blaine nor Frye were present, and the committee adjourned till to-morrow.

The Tribune's Washington special thinks the Democrats released witnesses Atkins, Fisher and Mulligan expressly to leave Blaine in a bad position before the Cincinnati convention. Blaine's friends will be very much disappointed if it allows his enemies to overthrow him in this. While nothing authentic can be learned from him in regard to his intentions, it would not be strange if he were to ask the House to-morrow, or next day at the farthest, to hear him in personal explanation. He would probably put the case before the House and country in the strongest light. As the case now stands Blaine's nomination is doubtful if not impossible, but still two delegates to the Cincinnati convention who were not supporters of Blaine returned to their homes yesterday after a brief visit to Washington. Before leaving they told a friend they should vote for Blaine on the first ballot. They had watched the investigation with great interest and were very indignant at the unfairness with which it had been conducted.

Battle in Cuba.

HAVANA, June [illegible]—The town of [illegible] in the [illegible] was attacked on the night of May [illegible] by the insurgent leader Max[illegible] [illegible]

The Mountaineer understands that arrangements are being made whereby some portion of the immigration which has been crowding into California may be brought into Eastern Oregon. The owners of the Dalles Military Road lands are disseminating information through circulars, advertisements, maps and agencies in San Francisco, Salt Lake and Omaha, as to the climate, soil, agricultural and stock growing capacities of that section of Oregon.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Legislative business was suspended at 1 o'clock and the consideration of articles of impeachment against Belknap resumed. The accused with counsel was present, as well as the managers on the part of the House. After reading the journal of Monday's session the President pro tem announced the judgment of the Senate overruling the plea of defendant as to jurisdiction.

While submitted an order that the accused be ordered to plead further or answer the articles of impeachment within ten days of this date.

Carpenter addressed the Senate in opposition to the order.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Mitchell introduced a bill to establish a post route from Oroden via Dalge's sheep ranch, Camp Eaton and Granite Creek to Olive Creek, in Oregon.

Ingalls called up the Senate bill to carry out in part the provisions of the act of March 3, 1873, to abolish the tribal relations of Miami Indians and for other purposes. Passed.

Booth presented the petition of the shipping commissioner at San Francisco, remonstrating against the passage of the law amending the shipping act of 1872, as proposed by the House bill. Referred to committee on commerce.

Sherman called up his resolution proposing a common unit of money and accounts for the United States of America and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

Morrill opposed the resolution and it was laid over for further consideration.

Sargent, from the conference committee on the consular and diplomatic appropriation bills, reported that the committee had been unable to agree, and moved that a new committee be appointed, agreed to and the Chair appointed Sargent, Howe and Bogy as the sub committee.

The Senate then resumed the consideration of unfinished business, being the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. The amendments of the committee on appropriations reducing the compensation of clerks in the office of the secretary of the interior, were agreed to.

When the clause appropriating $10,000 for rent of building for U. S. Pension office and Bureau of Education was reached, a long discussion ensued and an amendment was at last adopted which appropriates $16,000 for that purpose, and authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to procure a fire proof building, with suitable accommodations for those offices for a rent not exceeding that paid for the Seaton house, and to rent the same instead of the Seaton house. The appropriation for stationery, carpets, repairs of building, printing, etc., of the pension office, was reduced from $25,000 to $17,500. All the other amendments of the committee restoring the salaries of employes in the Bureau of Education, Postoffice Department, and Departments of Justice and Agriculture were agreed to.

Sherman, of Ohio, submitted an amendment providing that all powers of transfer and suspension of officers, held by the supervisors of internal revenue shall hereafter be conferred upon the commissioner of Internal Revenue, and the other powers of the supervisors shall hereafter be exercised by collectors of internal revenue. Agreed to. Without further important action the Senate adjourned.

House.

The committee on elections offered a resolution declaring Bennett, the sitting delegate from Idaho, not entitled to his seat; ordered to be printed.

The resolution of Adams that legislation on the tariff at this time is inexpedient, was referred to the committee on ways and means, by a vote of 131 to 91.

Neal offered a bill to repeal the resumption act of January 14th 1875, and called the previous question on the bill.

Kasson raised a point of order that no notice of the bill had been given, and therefore the bill was not in order.

Speaker Cox decided the point well taken.

Holman appealed from the decision and on motion of Morrison, the appeal was laid on the table, 134 to 11.

Blaine rising to a question of privilege proceeded to address the House.

After stating that the democratic members of the judiciary committee had not dared to bring him before the house for refusing to produce the private letters taken from him by Mulligan, Blaine announced his intention to read every one of them to the House. There was a great sensation in the hall and Blaine was several times interrupted by applause. He said that when the resolution directing an investigation of the $64,000 paid by the U. P. R. R. Co for Fort Smith & Little Rock bonds was offered, he was assured that it too was aimed at. But the committee had no sooner begun its investigation than it was apparent it was aimed at him solely and not at the railroad company. The committee had examined all its witnesses and the testimony had cleared him from the slanders that had been circulated to his detriment. The last week spent here was a drag in the proceedings and the committee decided to go into the examination of the N. P. R. R. and investigate a little transaction which occurred years ago in Boston between himself and a friend which was no transaction at all. The committee claimed power to do so under the general resolution instructing them to examine into the transaction of the railroad company. To-day he was informed the committee on the real estate pool had also started an investigation aimed at him, without notice to himself. It was a singular fact that the democratic members of the sub committee appointed by the chairman of the full committee, had both been in the rebel army, and they felt bitter against him on account of the amnesty debate. The committee tried to get at his private correspondence, and a delegation came here loaded with his letters to make a sensation. In getting possession of his letters held by Mulligan, he did what he felt to be his duty. The Democrats did not dare to bring the question of his right to the letters into the House. "Having vindicated my right," said Blaine, "to those letters I now go farther and will read those letters to the House and abide by the judgment of 44,000,000 of people. It is humiliating, however, to be forced to produce private correspondence, but it is better for me to do so than to submit to the insinuations. Here are the letters," said he holding a package to view and taking out the first letter from the package, he read it and the rest in their order. On the conclusion of the reading of the memorandum made from them by Mulligan, Blaine appealed to the House to say whether any member's private correspondence would better bear search. He then said with reference to the $64,000 bond transaction that the testimony of Caldwell would make his vindication complete, and inquired of the chairman of the judiciary committee whether a telegram had been sent to Caldwell. Knott replied he had not yet ascertained Caldwell's address. Blaine asked if Knott had not received a telegram from Caldwell last Thursday morning completely corroborating Col. Scott's testimony and exonerating him. Blaine, Knott declined to reply at present. Blaine then argued that such a telegram was received by Knott and charged that the latter had suppressed it. (Tremendous cheering and applause.) Blaine then offered a resolution on which he demanded the previous question, making same inquiry of the judiciary committee that he had made of Knott.

The first letter Blaine read was addressed to Fisher and dated 1871. It referred to a settlement between Spencer and Fisher and contained an allusion to a ten thousand dollar note given for Spencer rifle stock. Blaine said an explanation was necessary in reference to this note. Two years before he came into Congress, the persons who owned the patent for the Spencer rifle came to him and said the rifle ring in Washington was so strong that they could get no chance for a contract. He came to Washington and succeeded in getting the war department to recognize the Spencer rifle, for which service he was paid a reasonable fee. Afterwards, before he came into Congress, he was asked and took ten thousand dollars of Spencer rifle stock which he had paid for. The next three letters contained nothing important and referred mainly to the settlement between himself and Fisher. The fifth letter referred to a decision made by Blaine as speaker on the last night of the session in 1869 ruling out an amendment offered by Julian to annex the Memphis and El Paso bill to the bill relating to the Little Rock road. General Logan at the suggestion of the speaker made a point of order against the amendment and the speaker ruled it out. This was some months before he (Blaine) ever invested in the stock of the road. The additional letters were then read in full, Blaine making explanations in regard to one which referred to some of the Union Pacific bonds which Blaine said belonged to a member of his family and Hamilton, and upon which he had lent money. These bonds never belonged to him. There were three other papers and additional letters relating to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company of which Blaine said nothing except that he would have them printed in the Record with the letters. The memorandum of letters made by Mulligan were then read at the clerk's desk. Blaine then said this was all. Blaine having finished reading the letters, he said he had been completely exonerated by all the witnesses. As for the $64,000 bonds charge there was one witness whose testimony he wanted in order to make his vindication complete. This was Joseph Caldwell. He would ask Knott, the chairman of the judiciary committee, whether he had telegraphed to Caldwell and he wanted a categorical answer.

Knott said he had failed to get his address.

Blaine [illegible] to know whether they had received [illegible] from Caldwell.

Knott said he [illegible] answer at the proper time.

Blaine stepping down the aisle in front of the speaker said he had information [illegible] on last Thursday morning Knott had received a telegram [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

The greatest confusion reigned for some minutes and the Speaker ordered the doorkeepers to remove from the floor all persons not entitled to it. When order had been restored Hunter, chairman of the sub judiciary committee, was recognized. Hunter made statements as to the resolutions which had passed the House ordering investigations and declared that Blaine expressed his satisfaction with the members selected for the sub committee. He found fault with Blaine who preferred to come to the House occasionally with his grievances and find out what was going on in the committee room before the committee finished the investigation. Hunter said if one had courted a quick investigation and complained of the dilatoriness on the part of the committee. He Blaine really retarded the work. Coming down to the Mulligan matter Hunter said the moment Mulligan mentioned the fact that he had letters of Blaine, the latter whispered to Lawrence to move an adjournment. Lawrence explained that Blaine was ill, and in justice to Blaine declared the motion was made on that account only, and not because Blaine was injured by what was going on.

Hunter then spoke of Blaine's acquiring possession of the letters, and considered the letters the property of Mulligan. He said Blaine had invited him to the House to read the letters but he declined not to go, unless the whole committee were so privileged.

Blaine—Does the gentleman from Virginia know of a dispatch received from Josiah Caldwell in London?

Hunter—My friend, the chairman of the judiciary committee, will reply to you in full on that subject.

Blaine—Then I ask you to state whether on Thursday morning last the gentleman from Kentucky did not call you out of the committee room and acquaint you of that fact.

Hunter—If my friend from Kentucky does not answer you in full, I will.

Knott took the floor and said he had listened to the imputations upon himself within the last two hours, and should now attempt to answer them. He did not want a personal encounter, but the gentleman from Maine had led him in unnecessarily. He defended Hunter and Ashe and considered them the superiors of Blaine. (Hisses from the Republican side.)

Knott—That is all right. There are three kinds of animals in the world that hiss—vipers, geese and fools. (Laughter.) Knott declared that the sub committee was formed before Blaine's connection with railroads was ever suggested. He twitted Blaine with extreme anxiety on a variety of subjects, and suggested that Blaine was watching carefully for the Cincinnati convention. For his own part he hoped Blaine would be nominated, as he would be easy to beat. If he shall receive the nomination and be elected by the American people, in the face of all these facts, then all I can say is may the Lord have mercy on the American people. (Shouts of laughter.) Knott said the judiciary committee was to disclose the ownership of letters to-morrow. He censured Blaine for coming before the House at this juncture in such a way for such a purpose. There might have been a grave question presented to the consideration of the House growing out of these letters, and that question is whether after the House has committed the question for investigation to the committee, the authority of the House can be trifled with by having witnesses who have been summoned before that committee met by the wayside and pumped dry. The documentary evidence in their possession was obtained from them surreptitiously and a contemptuous refusal was made to the demand of the committee to deliver it up. As to the cable dispatch from Josiah Caldwell it is true that last Thursday morning I did receive a dispatch. The gentleman from Maine seems to know the precise hour at which I received it and its contents. He seems thoroughly posted on the subject. But permit me to say with regard to the insinuation that the telegram has been suppressed, that any man, high or low, whoever he may be, who will make such an insinuation will have to take the consequences. I hurl the falsehood back into the teeth of any man who makes a suggestion as to the suppression of that dispatch. (Applause on the Democratic side.) I received it. I did not suppress it at all in less than thirty minutes after I received it. I read it to several gentlemen, but there was no particular address in London from which it purported to come and I did not believe, and I am not altogether certain yet that I do not believe it was a fixed up job. (Murmurs of dissent from the Republican side.) Hale and Frye besought Knott to read the dispatch. The latter replied: When I get ready I will.

Frye—If the gentleman refuses to produce that dispatch, I will be entirely satisfied that Mr. Blaine has not learned the whole of it and I desire to ask if there is not something else which is kept back.

Knott—No sir, will that satisfy you? (Garfield and several other Republicans read it.)

Knott—Will the gentlemen possess their souls in patience. I have not the dispatch here. It is at my house. The contents are substantially as stated by the gentleman from Maine—Mr. Blaine—I don't know that I can repeat it in exact terms, but the purport is that Caldwell had seen Scott's testimony in the New York papers and that it was substantially correct, that he had not let Blaine have any bonds, and that he would send an affidavit to that effect, but that he was engaged in a railroad enterprise over there and could not come to give his testimony without serious pecuniary loss. This is substantially what is in it, and if the gentleman had only waited, that dispatch would have been presented to the committee for whatever use the committee might see proper to make of it. I had no desire to injure the gentleman from Maine personally, and especially not politically, but I desire that the truth may be told. As for myself, I had no knowledge of any transaction by the gentleman from Maine inconsistent with the highest personal integrity. I do not desire that he should be injured in the least, but I do desire that, with relation to every person guilty of wrong, we shall turn the gas on and let the people see. (Laughter and applause.)

Blaine moved the previous question on the resolution, and was attempting to make further remarks, but was prevented by loud calls of order and by the Speaker ruling that he was not entitled to the floor for that purpose.

The House refused to second the previous question and then, on motion of Banning, the motion of Blaine was referred to the committee on the judiciary. Yeas, 114, nays 97, and the House, after a day of great excitement adjourned.

ARRIVAL OF THE FAST TRAIN.

Jarrett & Palmer's Train on Time.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Jarrett & Palmer's train arrived at the end of Oakland wharf, which is within the city limits of San Francisco at 9:25 A. M., being 36 minutes less than eighty four hours from New York, and arrived at the wharf on this side at 9:45 A. M., and at 9:55 A. M. alighted in the court of the Palace Hotel dusty and travelworn but in good health and spirits. Engine No. 149 brought the train through from Ogden with the assistance of additional engines in crossing the Sierras. Time from Ogden to San Francisco, 23 hours and 52 minutes. Actual average running time from Ogden to Oakland wharf 41½ miles per hour. Considerable trouble was experienced on the Central Pacific from the wearing out of the brake shoes on the Pennsylvania cars and when in the mountains the Central Pacific Company put on two of their own coaches to brake the train. No accident of any kind occurred throughout the trip. Shortly after arrival here, breakfast was served, to which many prominent citizens, army and navy officers, representatives of the press, theatrical professionals, railroad officials and the mayor of the city were invited. A salute of thirteen guns were fired from the roof of the Palace Hotel on the arrival of the party at the wharf. The rest of the day was devoted to needed rest. A serenade took place in the evening.

The Trip of the Fast Train.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The city papers this morning give a full account of the trip of the lightning train. The journey seems to have been made without a single accident of special importance occurring on the way—everything working smoothly and in accordance with preconcerted arrangements. The exact time of the trip computed by Prof. Davidson of the coast survey between Jersey City and Oakland Point was 83 hours 32 minutes 7 seconds, 21 minutes and 45 seconds being occupied in the trip across the bay. Throughout the journey the arrival of the train at the different stations was enthusiastically greeted by the inhabitants with cheers, bonfires, fireworks and illuminations.

At Stockton the engines of the Visalia division backed up to the track greeting the passage of the train with a grand chorus of whistling in which the excited crowd joined waving banners and [illegible]. As early as 6 o'clock yesterday morning, Market street from the Palace Hotel to the ferry slip was thronged with people waiting for the arrival of the excursionists and the Palace Hotel was besieged by the crowd as soon as the first gun was fired from the roof announcing the landing of the party at the wharf. The party were a dusty looking lot, all changes of clothing before leaving the train having been tabooed by common consent on motion of Lawrence Barrett, who moved to carry the dust of the journey to the hotel in triumph. The most exciting part of the whole run was from Summit to Rocklin, [illegible] miles, involving a descent of [illegible] feet. At the former station the brakes were locked and steam shut off and with the impetus of the descent the train dashed down, rode at the rate of [illegible] miles an hour. Hank Small, the engineer, stood at the throttle valve from Ogden to Oakland wharf with the exception of a brief interval between Winnemucca and Truckee, and is the hero of the occasion. All the party express themselves enthusiastic over the success of the trip, and the completeness of the arrangements for comfort and safety throughout the journey.

Herald on the Fast Train.

The Herald's [illegible] on the fast train says, perhaps the most remarkable thing about the journey is that it had not required any other appliances to complete it than those already [illegible]. It is the best of that quality which [illegible] enterprise. [illegible] What is the most wonder in the transcontinental journey [illegible] is surpassed or even equaled for many days but it shows that that thing can be done. We hope to see a regular train soon attempt to emulate and so go back further into the dark ages the time when the old emigrant road across the plains was strewn with the graves of men who started with horse and wagon, and when the pony express seemed a revelation.

The World on the Fast Train.

The World's editorial speaking of the fast train, says everything considered, the feat is really remarkable. In their flight the passengers climbed three great mountain ranges and crossed two great rivers of the continent. The train too had for most of the way to depend on a single track road and some of these roads are inferior in ballast and track and line. Notwithstanding, the whole performance surpassed that of the great English train which runs nightly from London to Edinborough and [illegible] even without taking into consideration the fact that the wild Irishman and [illegible] Scotchman only travel hundreds of miles where what may be styled the so-called Yankee travels thousands. The fast train has, of course, been partly an advertisement for its managers, but it will have at least the additional effect of calling public attention to the possibility and advisability of extending our fast mail system.

Suicide of the Late Turkish Sultan.

The Turkish minister of foreign affairs has addressed the following telegram to the Turkish minister at Washington:

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 4.—A sad event just painfully affected our august Sovereign and his government. Abdul Aziz Khan, late Sultan, who for some time past has unfortunately given signs of mental derangement, having locked himself up this morning in his apartments of palace of Cheragan, committed suicide by opening the veins of his arms with scissors, which he had concealed on his person.

The Imperial government hastened to cause a legal inquest to be made, also a detailed medical report, which will be forwarded to you very soon. All ministers and high officers, both civil and military, will be present at the funeral of His Majesty, which will take place with the accustomed pomp and honors due to the deceased, whose body will be laid in the mausoleum of Sultan Mahmoud.

The Sultan Committed Suicide.

LONDON, June 5.—The Times' correspondent at Paris says the physicians of the British and other embassies at Constantinople say that the late Sultan committed suicide by cutting the arteries of both arms with a pair of scissors. He died at Teheregan palace at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, and was buried in the tomb of Mohammed Sunday evening. One telegram received in Paris asserts that the Sultan stabbed himself with a dagger in the region of the heart. It is generally remarked in Paris as strange that Abdul Aziz, who had always shown himself so feeble should have suddenly so much energy, and at the same time that his death was of so little importance to any one that it seemed repugnant to reason to attribute it to assassination.

The Late Sultan's Suicide.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 4.—It is officially announced that a report has been drawn up and signed by nineteen physicians of different nationalities which certifies that the death of Abdul Aziz resulted from the opening of the arteries below the bend of the left arm and the veins of the right arm. All the ministers attended the funeral of the late Sultan. The Porte has officially notified foreign ambassadors of Murad's accession and commanded recognition.

A Paris dispatch says it is hoped that Geo. Sand is now out of danger.

Critical Situation in Europe.

LONDON, June 5.—The North German Gazette gives us to understand that owing to antagonism between Russia and England all Europe is plunged into a most critical situation. The National Zeitung regards the pacific view recently taken by Count Andrassy as entirely erroneous, and foresees that a momentous decision will have to be adopted by the various powers. The Times' correspondent remarks that there is too much reason for the apprehension, and adds that the King of Greece has ordered his army to be placed on a war footing. A special commissioner has arrived in Germany to negotiate a Greek war loan. He is expected to settle it immediately. This serious movement is accompanied by others of like importance.

Threatened Attack on Turkey.

Further dispatches from Berlin to the Times state that the declaration of the Montenegrin Official Gazette that the insurgents are determined to immediately fall upon the Turks with the whole Servian race must be considered authentic.

Weselitzki, the Russian agent in Herzegovina having published an address turning the military and diplomatic direction of insurgent affairs over to the Prince of Montenegro, the Servian troops have been ranged on the frontier ready to act at a moment's notice. The central staff has gone to Alexinatz, near the Turkish camp at Nish. The principal Servian force, however, is stationed at Los Nitze, where pontoon bridges are being constructed preparatory to crossing the Drina into Bosnia. Various fortified camps have been established along the frontier. The Russian General Tcherrayeff, who has assumed command of the Servian forces, on his arrival at Belgrade, handed the Servian government $150,000 as a donation from the Selavonic societies of Russia. Bulgaria is also being set on fire by hosts of well armed volunteers, who are arriving daily from Russia, Servia, Roumania and Montenegro, have established fortified camps amply armed with cannon. Notwithstanding these difficulties, the attitude of the Porte continues firm, and the recent reform firman of Abdul Aziz has been specially withdrawn in some places. Special envoys have been sent to Morocco and Tunis to ask for assistance. A crisis is unavoidable unless Russia retracts. Russia is unprepared for the present contingency and is slow to decide. There is a feeling in Berlin that we are on the eve of momentous changes, and every hour may bring important news.

Russia Attributes the Revolution to English Intervention.

VIENNA, June 5.—The papers say that Prince Gortschakoff is greatly irritated attributing the occurrence of the Turkish revolution to English intervention. The British government recently suggested that the warfare which is being waged against the Turks in Servia and Montenegro should be treated as a breach of the peace of Europe, committed by Russia.

England has Concluded an Alliance with Turkey.

LONDON, June 5.—The Berlin telegraphic agency asserts that England has concluded an alliance with Turkey and guaranteed its integrity. The Russian telegraphic agency declares that Murad will be recognized on all hands without protest as soon as his accession is officially announced.

Investigation into the Murder of Mr. Margary.

LONDON, June 5.—A dispatch from Calcutta says Lord Grosvenor's mission arrived at Rangoon Friday last. Lord Grosvenor and Baber remained at Mandalay. The evidence shows clearly that Margary was murdered by the Chinese Imperial troops. It is expected that Tesse [illegible] the Chinese General, will be exonerated from complicity in the affair. The Chinese authorities wait Lord Grosvenor's report before carrying out the execution of those implicated in the murder.

Foreign Crop Prospects.

LONDON, June 5.—The Mark Lane Express says the harvest prospects are fairly hopeful, despite some drawbacks. The weather recently has been, on the whole advantageous to the wheat plant. The state of political affairs in the East are beginning to exercise a marked influence in both monetary and commercial circles. It cannot be denied that the possibilities of war may become, at any moment, stern realities. Consequently the daily course of foreign politics is being anxiously watched, and should the worst ensue we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that, with the rapid diminution of stocks abroad and of the visible supply in America, a great alteration in the present range of prices in our market will in all probability, occur. However political influences have not yet affected our markets to any extent and our present position is simply one of careful watching. Supplies of wheat from abroad during the week have been fair. No feeling of depression has shown itself. Millers still operate sparingly, but transactions in this quarter are expected to show more animation, as the stocks of English wheat in farmers hands are believed to be unusually small. The fine weather on the continent has caused a somewhat diminished enquiry on the part of continental buyers.

Carlist Troubles in Spain.

SAN SEBASTIAN, June 4.—Bresodar has ordered a state of siege in the province of Santander to be extended and several suspected Carlists have been expelled from Biscay.

Wesley Walters passed through Pendleton last week, having in charge thirty five head of geldings from [illegible] Co., at [illegible] Union county [illegible]. Some of them are well broke to harness and some of the lot never wore [illegible]. These horses are to be brought to Portland.

The junction for the Walla Walla line of stages is now made at Cayuse instead of Pendleton. We hope it is for the interest of the stage company so to do, but outsiders fail to see where the profit comes in.

A Tedious Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—The examination of E. H. Miller, secretary of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, and of the books of the company in the suits brought by the stockholders, is progressing from day to day at the office of the company. The proceedings are private. It is reported two or three months will be consumed in the inquiry. It is understood that thus far the examination has been principally directed to the manner in which the directors acquired the stock standing on the books of the company.

Two more cases of smallpox are reported to-day, one of which is a Chinaman.

International Challenge.

O'Leary, the pedestrian, on the 1st instant, sent a challenge to Vaughn, of Chester, England—who recently walked 120 miles inside of 24 hours—to walk two matches, one of 24 hours and one of six days, either in the United States or England, for £500 to £1,000 a side.

Sad Tragedy.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—A sad tragedy was enacted yesterday at Badger's Park, East Oakland. It seems that some time ago Peter Chisholm, a book-keeper in the employ of Higgins & Conkling, stock brokers of this city, had some trifling difficulty with a fellow clerk named T. B. Mortee, and the latter sent in his resignation, stating that it was impossible to get along with Chisholm. Nothing further was thought of the affair, and it was considered by all parties concerned as forgotten. Early yesterday morning Mr. Chisholm, who has resided at Tubbs' Hotel in East Oakland for several months past, proceeded to the City Hall livery stable, in Oakland, and procured a horse for the purpose, as was his custom, of taking a ride. He wended his way to Badger's Park and there met Mortee, and a few words were indulged in and the affair ended by the latter person taking a large piece of scantling from the ground and striking Chisholm a fearful blow over the head. Friends at once assisted Chisholm to his room in Tubbs' hotel, and medical attendance was called in. The physician pronounced the case hopeless, as the skull was crushed in. Mr. Chisholm lingered for seven hours and then death relieved him of suffering. This morning, Oakland officers arrived in the city for the purpose of arresting Mortee, and two local officers are aiding them in their search for him. He has not been found yet.

Mortee, who killed Chisholm at Badger's Park, surrendered himself to the authorities this evening, and was locked up for examination.

Wm. Doyle, fourteen years of age, living on York street, near Twenty-second, was thrown from his horse this afternoon and instantly killed, his neck being broken.

Anti-Chinese Row in Nevada.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—A dispatch from Carson, Nevada, reports that from 60 to 100 armed men, supposed to be the anti-Coolie Club of that city, stopped a gravel train near the tunnel a mile west of the town, on the Nevada & Truckee Railroad, and turned back the Chinese laborers on the train and would not allow them to work. All kinds of rumors are afloat, and it is reported that both parties are arming in anticipation of a fight. Chinatown is in danger of being burned. The excitement is intense.

Con. Virginia declared a dividend to-day of two dollars.

Annual Meeting of Crown Point Mining Company.

The annual meeting of Crown Point Silver Mining Company was held to-day. There were represented 16,535 shares. The yearly reports of the superintendent and president were read and ordered filed for the use of the stockholders. The following gentlemen were elected directors to serve the ensuing year. J. D. Frye, A. K. P. Sarmon, J. P. Jackson, C. H. Weller, and J. H. Dobinson. At a meeting subsequently held for the election of officers, Col. J. D. Frye was elected president, Chas. Elliott secretary, and Sam. L. Jones, superintendent.

Yosemite Falls.

YOSEMITE, Cal., June 5.—Yosemite can now be seen in all its grandeur. Owing to the deep snows of last winter, more water is now flowing over the falls than for any time in many years. The snow is now off the trails, and all the prominent points can be reached without trouble. The hotels are not crowded, the accommodations are good and ample, and the weather is warm and pleasant.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

A Test Case.

VICTORIA, June 5.—In the Police Court yesterday, James Crawford, lately arrived from Montreal, was charged under the new license bill as a commercial traveler and trading without a license. His counsel questions the jurisdiction of the court in the case; but Justice Courtney claimed he had the right to try it. Application was then made that the case be postponed one month to enable the defendant to procure evidence. The requested postponement was granted on his giving bonds to the amount of $500 for his appearance. Considerable interest is manifested, as it is a test case.

Explosion in a Billiard Saloon.

Yesterday morning about two o'clock an explosion took place in the billiard saloon kept by Captain Martin, located in the Occidental building on the corner of Fort and Government streets. On examination of the saloon, a strong smell of gunpowder and a cloud of smoke were noticed. Some slight damage was done and every window in the room suffered more or less; but the damage was not serious. Rumors are currently set afloat that it was caused by incendiaries, but on communicating with Martin it became evident that it was an accident.

Beacon Hill Races.

The race at Beacon Hill yesterday was witnessed by a large crowd. Great delay was caused by the failure to obtain any one to act as starter. The horses did not start until nearly three hours after the advertised time. The match was a single dash of half a mile for $1,000 a side, and was won by Trifle, beating the deer by about a quarter of a length. Time 5[illegible] seconds.

NEVADA.

The Bonanza Tax Difficult to be Compromised.

VIRGINIA CITY, June 5.—Jas. G. Fair on behalf of the Con. Virginia will meet the county commissioners this afternoon in special session to bring about a compromise on the county tax on the bullion product of the mines. It is expected that the bonanza firm will come to terms, and if so the general county tax will be greatly reduced.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 6, 1876.

THE ELECTION PROBABILITIES

Complete returns of this county could not be expected Such as we have were received at a very late hour, owing to the length of time required for the judges and clerks to make the count There was an unprecedented amount of scratching, which made it impossible for the counting to proceed as rapidly as it would otherwise have done. These partial returns came in too late for us to present footings. Our readers will have to figure for themselves

As to the general result it appears probable the Republicans have carried their legislative ticket by a small majority, and have also elected most of the county officers. They lose their candidate for sheriff, the election of Mr Jeffery the Democratic candidate being quite certain James A Smith, Republican is elected clerk by a large majority

So far as can be judged from the scattering reports received from other counties, it appears the Republicans have polled about their full strength, and the [illegible] are that they have carried the [illegible] legislature Unless subsequent re[illegible] will change the aspect of affairs the Democrats may as well make up their minds to retire from the Senatoral contest.

THE STATE OF AFFAIRS IN EUROPE.

The [illegible] act of affairs in Europe is suf[illegible] to alarm all lovers of peace and good will. The accepted meaning of the deposition of the late Sultan is that English influence in Turkey has triumphed [illegible] the influence of Russia It is to be [illegible] the aid of English officers is relied on in behalf of the Porte, and that [illegible] officers not only lead the insur[illegible] but bring them large sums of [illegible] all look for[illegible] outbreak of hostilities [illegible] reason why this event [illegible] is that Russia is [illegible] the struggle will be a tre[illegible] one, and she is unwilling to begin it until all her preparations have [illegible] made. Most of the nations of [illegible] will be drawn into the contest on [illegible] or the other Our remote position [illegible] as our wise policy of non [illegible] in the affairs of foreign na[illegible] do not directly concern us, [illegible] that we shall take [illegible] in the impending war, [illegible] being uninter[illegible] In some respects a long con[illegible] in Europe would be very ad[illegible] to us by affording us an op[illegible] for selling our surplus [illegible] at an enormous [illegible] on the other hand many [illegible] fashion has taught us to [illegible] able, will become very [illegible] On the whole, however, [illegible] will be in our favor [illegible] sound rather cold [illegible], but after all, [illegible] about such subjects [illegible] by popular speak[illegible] by much applause from both sexes, the course of [illegible] is determined by the [illegible] alone. The day has [illegible] should be arrayed [illegible] to decide a point of [illegible] times mean ac[illegible] and nations take [illegible] in them in exact [illegible] expected to be [illegible] sides with Turkey [illegible] and thwart Russia [illegible] Russia assists [illegible] in order to bring about an [illegible] seizing the Bosphorus [illegible] telles. The Khedive of [illegible] the ancient enmity of the [illegible] an excess of arming, and, [illegible] waving her independence [illegible] duly deplore the horrors of [illegible] duly felicitate ourselves on [illegible] of getting nine or ten bits a [illegible]

CHEAP HOMES

[illegible] that the city of Philadelphia [illegible] houses than any [illegible] the Union These houses [illegible] conveniently arranged, [illegible] owned by the occupants [illegible] which the laboring men of [illegible] been able to acquire [illegible] comfortable homes at [illegible] it, may be learned [illegible] following extract from the N. [illegible] may be premised that the [illegible] tions spoken of require [illegible] of a certain monthly sum, [illegible] dollar per share, which is [illegible] the number of the associa[illegible] will pay the largest price or in[illegible] The amount to be loaned at [illegible] meeting is made up of the [illegible] shares, the interest on [illegible] and the amount forfeited by mem[illegible] who abandon their shares, or draw [illegible] ciation The money is put [illegible] desiring to borrow bid for it [illegible] bers can borrow, unless no [illegible] to do so, in which case [illegible] can be loaned to an outsider [illegible] loan, when made, is always secured [illegible] first mortgage on real estate and a [illegible] of the borrower's share in the asso[illegible] and the amount of the loan to any [illegible] son is limited to the par value of [illegible] shares. Thus the association is pro[illegible] from loss The borrower goes on [illegible] his monthly dues as usual, and when the amount of money in the treas[illegible] or at interest, equals the par value of [illegible] shares, the object of the association has been accomplished and the shares are [illegible] off As a rule, the interest and other [illegible] of the association are such that there is money enough on hand to pay off the [illegible] before each member has paid in more than fifty or sixty per cent of the par value; or, in other words, the association usually make thirty or forty per cent The Times says

The truth is that these building associations of Philadelphia are working men's banks lending and borrowing money on the security of real estate, where each depositor is also manager, and stimulated to the highest economy of management and the utmost habit of saving his own earnings No device was ever invented in the history of the working classes at once so ingenious and so beneficial to their interests.

If we now turn to the report of the building association of which we have spoken we find that it possesses a capital of 1,567 shares or $69,160 to which it has increased in three years from $1,713 Its receipts during the year from monthly savings of working men and from other sources of income were $46,026 It paid out in loans of the different series during the year $18,258, and received bonds and mortgages on real estate amounting to $26 000 or a profit of $7,742 Among its disbursements showing the severity of the times, are $16,071 to withdrawing members yet with all this the average premium for the year is nearly thirty per cent (29 77) Thus with 201 stockholders a capital of $69 100 and a business of $42 626 there has been this large profit One explanation of this success will be found in the fact that the whole expenses of the institution including Secretary's salary advertising rent and stationery were only $613 Another lies in the principle that the money of the institution is compounded twelve times a year and the savings and interest are continually reinvested the security being always the best In eight years a working man paying out to this association little more than he pays now in rent to his landlord becomes the owner in fee of his house and lot

Mr Blaine who it was thought was about to be overwhelmed by the redoubtable Mulligan has achieved a real triumph over him and his backers. The letters which were said to contain unutterable things, were read by Mr Blaine in the House, and proved to be of an innocent character Nothing whatever appears which could possibly injure the writer Thus far all the attempts of his enemies have resulted in showing Mr Blaine to be a man of honor and integrity, and also one of unlimited boldness and resource

THE PROOF

PORTLAND June 4 1876

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In a card published on Saturday Mr Bybee demands the proof Here it is The agreement was made in Turn Halle on the day of the Republican convention L F A Shaw the nominee for representative Ward S Stevens and J P Rogers were the parties who made the agreement with Mr Bybee Mr Rodgers has declined making a statement but the following from O P Mason shows what he knows of the matter

PORTLAND June 4 1876

I hereby state that on last Friday Mr Rodgers and Mr Perry came into my office in Portland and had a conversation there in my presence, in which conversation Mr Rogers used this language, as near as I can state it 'The statement made in the morning paper, signed 'Democrat,' though not strictly true in detail is substantially correct, and Mr Bybee will not deny it The agreement was made in my presence and in presence of Messrs Stevens and Shaw but Bybee says now the man he was going to work for is not on the ticket, and consequently he is not bound by it

NOTES FROM SALEM.

Under date of June 4th, our regular correspondent sends the following:

Capt. A. W. Waters, U. S. Marshal, is in the city.

Hon. W. R. Dunbar has returned from his southern trip and has gone to Silverton to vote.

Among those fleeing Centennialward during the coming week is Hon. H. H. Gilfry, who starts overland to-day. He is delegate at large to the National Democratic Convention, and will of course be present Before his return he will visit Philadelphia and other Eastern cities. Miss Mary Robinson also leaves on the outgoing steamer destined for the Eastern States.

At the last regular meeting of Capitol Engine Co. 1, the following officers were elected to serve during the ensuing year A B Croasman, foreman, W. R. Crump, 1st assistant Jemes Mead 2d assistant; J J. Murphy President; Ira Erb, secretary; Jno G. Wright, treasurer. Board of delegates—J. J. Murphy, Jno. H. Albert, and Ben. Strang. J. H Haas was nominated for the office of chief engineer.

The second rendition of the musical charade was given by request at Reed's Opera House, on Friday evening last. The house was again full and this piece admirably carried out. Recitations were given by Miss Mary Powell and Cyrus Woodworth, and some exquisite vocal and instrumental selections by Miss Anna Brown and Miss Carrie Whitelaw, of Astoria. At its close a few invited guests repaired to Col. C. A. Reed's private office, on the same floor, where Miss Mary Powell was presented with an elegant gold medal given her by friends desirous of showing their appreciation of her recitation at the Opera House on the evening the prize declamations were delivered. The presentation speech was made by Col. Reed, and Miss Powell in receiving this beautiful gift tearfully thanked them for the same, hoping by future exertions to prove herself worthy of it. The medal was of shield shape, suspended from a scroll bar. The words "Well Done; Many Friends, May 29, 1876" were engraved on one side and her initials "M. P." in heavy German text, on the reverse It is of solid gold, manufactured by W. W. Martin, and valued at $20. R D Allen, who declaimed the same evening, also received a very handsome, although less expensive, medal from the hands of his friends the same day. While on the subject of presentations we might also allude to a type writer presented to Rev. P. S. Knight by his friends during the week. It was purchased in San Francisco and, is the first one introduced in this city. And by the way, Hon. J. J. Murphy was caned on Thursday evening. It is an ivory headed and silver mounted affair, and was presented him by the members of Capital Fire Engine Company No. 1 in appreciation of his years of service as President of the organization, to which position he had just been re-elected. W. P. Keady made the presentation speech, to which "J. J." responded in his customary characteristic style.

BASE BALL.

Our correspondent writing from Salem says Salem base ball circles have been excited considerably over two contests which have taken place during the week. First on the list was an exhibition game played Friday last between the first and second nines of the College club. It was arranged more especially for the purpose of displaying their new suits, worn on this occasion for the first time. That of the first nine is certainly the handsomest ever donned by an Oregon club and its first appearance created a very favorable impression. That of the second nine was perhaps intended as a burlesque, but with the exception of the cap, was, after all, rather neat. It consisted of knee breeches of centennial cloth, white shirt, with centennial collar and cuffs, striped stockings and centennial hat, loaf shape, about a foot high. The stars and stripes conglomerated extensively, the effect being more or less ridiculous. The game resulted 35 to 21 in favor of the first nine. The second game was played yesterday between picked nines from the Capital and Tiger fire engine companies for the championship and ownership of a silver ice pitcher generously donated by S. Friedman. The game was called at 2:30 P. M., and at the end of the sixth inning was a tie on 16 runs each. The Capitals then "pulled out" and continued leading the score until the close, securing 22 runs on the ninth inning alone. The score at the close of the game stood 52 to 25 in their favor. This we believe will be the last match game for some time, but our boys will continue in practice and so perfect themselves as to warrant them in appearing on the diamond field during centennial week as contestants for those Portland medals, of which we hear so much.

THE NEW HOTEL BUILDING.—We are indebted to the courtesy of Mr. Joseph Sedgwick, the architect and builder of the new hotel on the corner of Main and Commercial streets, for a visit throughout that mammoth structure, which is alike a credit to his mechanical skill as well as to the enterprise of Thos J. Jackson, its proprietor, who, in thus erecting the largest building ever constructed in the Territory, to meet the growing demand for a first-class hotel in this city, not only contributes much to its appearance, but furnishes another instance of that confidence which many of our men of means have in the steady growth and prosperity of this place. This main building, which is 58x98 feet in dimensions and three stories in height, is now well advanced in construction, being wholly enclosed, the floors all laid, partitions made, lathing commenced, and the painters' and joiners' work being done. Exteriorly it presents a fine and imposing appearance, which will be much improved when the two piazzas to be constructed for the second and third floors shall be added to the front. The cornice around the entire building will be heavy and relieved with elegant brackets. The doors and windows fronting on the two streets will be of corresponding size with the building and stylish in their construction. There will be but two entrances on Commercial street, one into the hall-way and the other into the barroom, while on the second and third floors there will be one entrance way from each piazza to the main hall ways upon those floors. Altogether fronting on Commercial and Main streets the building will have four doors and forty-four windows. Interiorly the arrangement of the house is well designed, the various apartments being spacious and well adapted for their intended use. The entrance hall, on the first floor, 10x35 feet, extends back to the dining room. On the left of this is the ladies parlor, 20x24, and the office, 8x24, and on the right the barroom, 23x40, and the reading room, 20x24. The dining room at the end of the hall will be 35x76 feet in size, and separated from it by a hall from the reading room, and in rear of the latter will be the baggage room, two bed rooms and a large wash room. The second floor will contain one parlor and bed room adjoining, five suites of rooms, one hall way 10x98 feet in size, 18 bed rooms and one store room, all of extra size and to be elegantly finished. Upon the third floor there will be a hall way extending the entire length of the building, together with two transverse hall walls, and 41 bed rooms ranging in size from 10x10 feet in dimensions to 10x16. In addition to these apartments mentioned, the hotel will be connected with the building adjoining it on the rear, which will be used for the purposes of a kitchen, laundry, and apartments for the employes of the establishment when it shall be opened to the public, which it is the intention to have done by the Fourth of July next —Seattle Intelligencer, May 27.

Imagine the horror of a Chicago mother, whose three year old daughter recently addressed her with "Mama, my doll's played out, and I don't want any more rag dollies. I want a meat baby." We all have our wants. A young man's great want for instance, is one of those perfect suits from Beck & Waldman's.

Peter Wilhelm, at the "Fountain," First and Ash streets keeps things in a cozy shape His billiard tables are much admired and the new Virginia table is a great favorite. Call and see him

Mr A M Elam, the successor of Elam & Co, engaged in the livery business, corner of I and Fifth streets, East Portland, has completely refitted and refurnished his establishment, and is now prepared to turn out some very stylish rigs. Feed of all kinds constantly on hand

W. L. ADAMS, M D A M, LL D, corner of First and Salmon streets, is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price, by medicated, electric, lightning cream baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice, mixed with a little common sense. His treatment is, in the main, entirely original, and works almost miracles, as his numerous patients will attest. A lady always in the office to assist in treating women.

EUGENE ITEMS.

Under date of June 4th, our Eugene correspondent sends the following:

The Springfield express, on account of political business and various other reasons, failed to make its regular weekly trip to-day

There are two Sundays in this week for the saloons, one Sunday proper and election day, a thing the saloon men do not seem to relish much

An extra train, composed of six loaded freight cars, passed here this morning for Junction returning this afternoon with a load of ties and rails to repair the road south of this place.

Politics lively here Saturday, speaking in the afternoon and evening, button-holing the order of the day, and, in spite of all the excitement, only one man was arrested. Good music and fine eloquence was freely dispensed.

The inclement weather deterred many of our young folks from visiting Mr. Luger's Sunday resort, which has been fitted up one mile and a half east of town, where croquet, swings, football, strawberries and cream, soda water, etc, etc, make one forget the cares of the busy week and have good real enjoyment.

The first nine of the Eclectics Base Ball Club played a practice game at Junction, Saturday, the members making good scores. They have undoubtedly the material for a strong club, and, with practice, will make the contestants for centennial honors do their best work. The second nine, now organizing, will, no doubt, give the Juniors at Salem a rub before long, as they seem to desire a friendly bout with the boys of Lane.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.

Our regular correspondent at Vancouver, under date of the 5th inst., writes.

The crops in this county are looking well

Mr Duncan and lady left to-day for the East.

Vegetable gardens in this place are looking well.

Another picnic is expected to come off at this place on next Saturday.

Columbia river is 30 feet above low water mark at this place, and falling slowly.

J. G Lovelace, of Mill Plain, is making a great improvement in the roads in that vicinity.

The Eddings Sons, at the postoffice in this city, are rendering themselves very popular with the people as experts in the business.

This beautiful town site is expected to change its appearance very much when the N. P. R. R. reaches its, en route to Portland.

The Spartans of this city carried off the palm last Saturday last. The Portland boys are a little too slow for the Vancouverite.

The picnic held at this place on Saturday, was a very enjoyable affair, as we learned from many of our old friends from Portland who took part.

The Centennial excursion is to come off next Friday, 9th inst, on the steamer Vancouver, at which time our friends expect to visit East Portland Park.

A number of the typos of Portland spent last Saturday in our City Park, where they enjoyed the beautiful shade and the cool clear water from the hills

THE WOODVILLE ROUGH AND READY CONTEST.—A Virginia City dispatch of May 23d says: A contest has been going on for the past two months between the Woodville and Rough and Ready Mining Companies for possession of the ground claimed by the former company. Their operations have been carried on by strategy, so far, but it is said both parties are getting warmed up and are liable to begin more active operations at any time. It seems that when the Woodville investigation was in progress, some time ago, the works of that company were shut down, when the Rough and Ready Company put up a small engine on the ground and commenced sinking a shaft. The Woodville, to all appearance, was deserted, but they had a force of men below ground, quietly running a drift to a point to intercept the Rough and Ready shaft and block their game. When the miners in the latter mine saw they were defeated, they turned a stream of water down the shaft with the intention of drowning the Woodville party, but the Water Company objected to this. They then commenced to fill up the drift at the bottom of the shaft with rock and dirt, but the Woodville folks have built a fire and are smoking the Rough and Ready boys out. How it will terminate, it is hard to tell.

"Who frew dat peanut at me?" asked a darkey when struck on the head by a sand bag thrown out of a balloon. He must have been as thick headed as the people who persist in buying inferior clothing from "slop shops" when they can get a really good article for even less money at Fishel & Roberts.'

Everybody's favorite—the "golden thread" cigar.

The oldest man in Oregon will be here at the Centennial, and during his stay will purchase a summer outfit at Rosenblatt's, 79 Front street, where bargains are offered.

RETURNED.

Dr. Wightman has again returned to this city, where he can be found at his rooms, northeast corner of Stark and Fourth streets. Remember he makes a specialty of HEMORRHOIDS or PILES and other DISEASES OF THE RECTUM, giving IMMEDIATE RELIEF AND CURING in a very short time, without interfering with the business of the patient. I use no knife caustic, ligature or any other painful remedies having treated many cases of twenty and thirty years' standing with entire satisfaction to the parties treated, I have no hesitation in saying SATISFACTION GUARANTEED. Persons at a distance may consult by mail. The "process" sent by express C. O. D. (not by mail). Consultation fee, $2. Postoffice box, 247, Portland, Oregon.

DR. C. F. WIGHTMAN.

When you wish to present a respectable appearance dress well. All the young and old men in the town consider that the late importations at Jos. Kohn's are the best they have seen. Kohn is always "up to snuff," and provides his patrons with the latest and best. Examine the stock.

TERRITORIAL ITEMS

Dayton, W. T., has become an incorporated town.

The Utsalady mill is expected to resume operations soon.

A St. Andrew's society was organized at Seattle last week.

The new schooner at Port Madison was launched last week.

The Daily Olympian will be issued as a morning paper hereafter.

The sum of $1,500 has been raised at Seattle to buy a steam fire engine.

There are 70 convicts in the territorial penitentiary at Colorado at present.

La Conner is going to have a grand Centennial celebration on the Fourth of July.

Capt. James E. Putnam, of Walla Walla, has been appointed post trader at Fort Walla Walla.

Petitions are in circulation for the establishment of an ocean mail service to Puget Sound

Three and a half millions of hoop poles have been shipped from Puget Sound since December.

Sylvester Scoville of Walla Walla, crazed on spiritualism, has been sent to the insane asylum at Steilacoom

Seattle has increased her police force to a chief at a salary of $100 per month, and two assistants at $80 each.

The Indians at Red Cloud are estimated as follows Sioux, 8,854; Cheyenne, 2,172; Arapahoe, 1,970; total, 13,027

The Collar and Elbow saloon at Seattle was burned last week. The fire was the work of an incendiary and the loss $750.

Last week a large fir tree was struck by lightning at Raeder's logging camp near Port Madison and shattered in pieces.

A large cylinder press has been purchased for the Seattle Intelligencer office and that office will soon issue a large daily paper.

Messrs. Hawley, Wade and Hines, of Union, drove a large band of cattle through Boise City recently, en route for the Colorado market.

Sundry improvements and repairs are now being made to the light station, sheds, keeper's dwelling, fence, etc, at Shoalwater Bay.

J. H. Munson of Olympia, organized an Encampment of Champions of the Red Cross, at Port Townsend, with twenty charter members.

Dr. S. Hemenway, who has been appointed acting assistant surgeon, is to be stationed at Fort Canby, at the mouth of the Columbia river.

The recently elected town marshal of Olympia is found to be ineligible by reason of his not having been a citizen when he was chosen.

A letter from Red Cloud agency says it is not true that the great war chief of that name has suffered a stroke of paralysis. He is down with the gout, however.

The Daily Pacific Tribune has entered upon its twelfth volume. We are glad to read the words of its proprietor that it is proving of pecuniary profit to him.

It is expected that three companies of the soldiers now stationed at Walla Walla will soon be assigned for duty under Gen. Crook in the Big Horn country.

Thos. Moonhouse, an old gentleman of Walla Walla, was thrown from and kicked by a horse last week, and hurt so badly that it is feared he will not recover.

The Semi Weekly Watchman, enlarged and improved from the Walla Walla Spirit of the West, is on our table. As a newspaper the Watchman is rather ahead of anything Walla Walla ever had before.

The annual meeting of the Christian Church for Western Washington Territory will convene on Friday, June 9, 1876, at the usual place of meeting, near Castle Rock, Cowlitz county, on the N. P. railroad.

The telegraph brings intelligence of the suicide of L. P. Mikkelson, at Silver City, on Sunday, 28th ult. He is an old pioneer and is known all over the coast. Mr. Mikkelson was P. G. M. of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Idaho Territory.

The captain of the ship Commodore, loading at Ludlow, has been arrested and is now in custody at Port Townsend, for shooting one of his sailors on the 24th ult. He was formerly captain of the Puget Mill Co.'s barkentine Victor.

May 24th a little daughter of a Frenchman called Cincear, living in Pierce county, opposite Yelm Prairie, had her clothes catch on fire, and was so badly burned about the body that she died on the following day. She was about four years old.

Considerable excitement exists at Tacoma in reference to the coal road. Orders to build the proposed road are expected shortly. Several attaches of the Northern Pacific have lately entered some of the coal lands with the expectation that this road will soon be built near them.

W. G. Goulding has arrived at Cheyenne from the Black Hills with his pockets full of nuggets and quartz. He reports the old, old story about rich mines, but he incidently remarked that the Indians are "infernally hostile," and killed three men near Mountain City just before he left.

A new coast survey party will commence operations on the Sound sometime in July. Probably the settlement of the San Juan Islands, and the increased business on the lower Sound demands assistance in this work. The shore line of Puget Sound is estimated at 1,833 statute miles, a large portion of which has not been surveyed. Capt. Bradford will have charge of the new party.

On Sunday last the boys were indulging in the rather cruel sport of spearing pogies from the raft which lies just below the Swantown bridge. After the tide had receded hundreds of these fish were lying dead and dying in the mud flats or in the stream. The Celestials, who never allow any opportunity of this kind to pass unimproved, were out in full force, and selected and carried away large numbers of those found still alive.

The situation at the Red Cloud agency is anything but assuring. Eighty lodges of Indians have left there within the past ten days. Ten lodges left there three days ago, in spite of the agents most strenuous efforts to detain them. All the government stock which belonged there has been run off by the Indians, and fresh outrages are of daily occurrence. All supplies sent from Fort Laramie to the camps and agencies are heavily guarded. The outlook in that direction is full of trouble for Black Hillers, ranchmen and the military.

The B. B. Mail of May 20th has the following. "Our county commissioners did a praiseworthy act at their recent session, in instructing the auditor to correspond with the commissioner of public works of British Columbia with the view of enlisting that functionary's co-operation with the people of Whatcom county in their efforts to connect Bellingham Bay with the Fraser river valley. It is proposed to British Columbia to extend the Fort Hope and New Westminster post road to a point on the boundary line near Sumas Prairie to intersect the Whatcom and Nootsack road that is now approaching completion to that line.

The Tunnel Lode Company, of Georgetown (says the Colorado Miner), after several months of hard preparatory work, has got things in shape to accomplish the great object of its organization, namely, to sink a shaft 1,000 feet deeper on the Colorado Central or Number Five Lode, from its point of intersection in the Marshall Tunnel. Here, 800 feet from the mouth of the tunnel, and 500 below the surface, in the famous dancing chamber where a subterranean ball was given, last year, a substantial engine and boiler are located, and are now kept steadily at work. A smoke stack 80 feet high is no mouch of a stack, but no less would answer for this enterprise. The shaft which is to solve the problem of deep mining in Clear creek county, is 5x11 feet divided into two compartments, with strong ladderways, and is now going deeper every hour at a rapid rate

LAND FOR IMMIGRANTS.

Choice Farms for Sale.

4,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all under cultivation, and suitable for grain or vegetables.

946 Acres, four miles southeast of Salem, on the railroad, with Mill creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs, consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim, on which I raised the past year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre. The first crop of oats ever raised on part of this land measured ninety-four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground-chained by Mr. Alfred Stanton, of Salem.

3,200 Acres of prairie and light brush land, with timber for farming purposes, bounded by the Willamette River for four miles, beautiful lake on the east, boat landings all along the river, commencing four miles north of Salem—all choice grain land—the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony. To be sold from $15 to $25 per acre. This land will all be immediately resurveyed, and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels, to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage, and I can offer any person or persons, or colony of persons, desiring to purchase homes in the best part of the Willamette Valley, near the city of Salem and within reach of the best social advantages, as well as most favorably located with respect to markets, greater advantages, on more favorable terms, than they can ever expect to realize again.

THOMAS CROSS.

Sealed Proposals

WILL BE RECEIVED BY THE SUPERINTENDENT of the Oregon State Penitentiary, at his office in Salem, until 2 o'clock P. M. June 17, 1876, (which said proposals will be opened in presence of the Governor and Secretary of State at 2 o'clock P. M. June 19.,) for leasing to the highest bidder the labor of thirty-five convicts for a period of not exceeding four years.

Said labor is to be performed within the Prison enclosures, and the convicts to be subject to Prison discipline and rules, viz seven working hours from Oct. 1st to April 1st, and ten working hours from April 1st to Oct. 1st of each year, with entire exemption from labor each and every Saturday afternoon.

No bid for less than 50 cents per day will be considered. Payment required quarterly in U. S. gold coin. Bonds for 5 per cent. of the amount involved in the proposal, to accompany each bid as guarantee of fulfillment of contract if accepted.

Among the 35 men are four blacksmiths. Also, the State will furnish blacksmith's tools and shop-room, free of charge, and will enlarge the premises if sufficient men are let to justify so doing.

NOTES FROM SALEM.

Under date of June 4th, our regular correspondent sends the following:

Capt. A. W. Waters, U. S. Marshal, is in the city.

Hon. W. R. Dunbar has returned from his southern trip and has gone to Silverton to vote.

Among those fleeing Centennialward during the coming week is Hon. H. H. Gilfry, who starts overland to-day. He is delegate at large to the National Democratic Convention, and will of course be present. Before his return he will visit Philadelphia and other Eastern cities. Miss Mary Robinson also leaves on the outgoing steamer destined for the Eastern States.

At the last regular meeting of Capitol Engine Co. 1, the following officers were elected to serve during the ensuing year: A. B. Crossman, foreman; W. R. Crump, 1st assistant; James Mead, 2d assistant; J. J. Murphy, President; Ira Erb, secretary; Jno. G. Wright, treasurer. Board of delegates—J. J. Murphy, Jno. H. Albert, and Ben Strang. J. H. Haas was nominated for the office of chief engineer.

The second rendition of the musical charade was given by request at Reed's Opera House on Friday evening last. The house was again full and this piece admirably carried out. Recitations were given by Miss Mary Powell and Cyrus Woodworth, and some exquisite vocal and instrumental selections by Miss Anna Brown and Miss Carrie Whitelaw, of Astoria. At its close a few invited guests repaired to Col. C. A. Reed's private office, on the same floor, where Miss Mary Powell was presented with an elegant gold medal given her by friends desirous of showing their appreciation of her recitation at the Opera House on the evening the prize declamations were delivered. The presentation speech was made by Col. Reed, and Miss Powell in receiving this beautiful gift tearfully thanked them for the same, hoping by future exertions to prove herself worthy of it. The medal was of shield shape, suspended from a scroll bar. The words "Well Done; Many Friends, May 29, 1876" were engraved on one side and her initials "M. P." in heavy German text, on the reverse. It is of solid gold, manufactured by W. W. Martin, and valued at $20. R. D. Allen, who declaimed the same evening, also received a very handsome, although less expensive, medal from the hands of his friends the same day. While on the subject of presentations, we might also allude to a type writer presented to Rev. P. S. Knight by his friends during the week. It was purchased in San Francisco and, is the first one introduced in this city. And by the way, Hon. J. J. Murphy was caned on Thursday evening. It is an ivory headed and silver mounted affair, and was presented him by the members of Capital Fire Engine Company No. 1 in appreciation of his years of service as President of the organization, to which position he had just been re-elected. W. P. Keady made the presentation speech, to which "J. J." responded in his customary characteristic style.

BASE BALL.

Our correspondent writing from Salem says: Salem base ball circles have been excited considerably over two contests which have taken place during the week. First on the list was an exhibition game played Friday last between the first and second nines of the College club. It was arranged more especially for the purpose of displaying their new suits worn on this occasion for the first time. That of the first nine is certainly the handsomest ever donned by an Oregon club, and its first appearance created a very favorable impression. That of the second nine was perhaps intended as a burlesque, but with the exception of the cap, was, after all, rather neat. It consisted of knee breeches of centennial cloth, white shirt, with centennial collar and cuffs, striped stockings and centennial hat, loaf shape, about a foot high. The stars and stripes conglomerated extensively, the effect being more or less ridiculous. The game resulted 35 to 21 in favor of the first nine. The second game was played yesterday between picked nines from the Capital and Tiger fire engine companies for the championship and ownership of a silver ice pitcher generously donated by S. Friedman. The game was called at 2:30 P. M., and at the end of the sixth inning was a tie on 16 runs each. The Capitals then "pulled out" and continued leading the score until the close, securing 22 runs on the ninth inning alone. The score at the close of the game stood 52 to 25 in their favor. This we believe will be the last match game for some time, but our boys will continue in practice and so perfect themselves as to warrant them in appearing on the diamond field during centennial week as contestants for those Portland medals, of which we hear so much.

THE NEW HOTEL BUILDING.—We are indebted to the courtesy of Mr. Joseph Sedgmor, the architect and builder of the new hotel on the corner of Main and Commercial streets, for a visit throughout that mammoth structure, which is alike a credit to his mechanical skill as well as to the enterprise of Thos J. Jackson, its proprietor, who, in thus erecting the largest building ever constructed in the Territory, to meet the growing demand for a first-class hotel in this city, not only contributes much to its appearance, but furnishes another instance of that confidence which many of our men of means have in the steady growth and prosperity of this place. This main building, which is 58x98 feet in dimensions and three stories in height, is now well advanced in construction, being wholly enclosed, the floors all laid, partitions made, lathing commenced, and the painters' and joiners' work being done. Exteriorly it presents a fine and imposing appearance, which will be much improved when the two piazzas to be constructed for the second and third floors shall be added to the front. The cornice around the entire building will be heavy and relieved with elegant brackets. The doors and windows fronting on the two streets will be of corresponding size with the building and stylish in their construction. There will be but two entrances on Commercial street, one into the hall-way and the other into the barroom, while on the second and third floors there will be one entrance way from each piazza to the main hall ways upon those floors. Altogether fronting on Commercial and Main streets the building will have four doors and forty-four windows. Interiorly the arrangement of the house is well designed, the various apartments being spacious and well adapted for their intended use. The entrance hall, on the first floor, 10x35 feet, extends back to the dining room. On the left, of this is the ladies parlor, 20x24, and the office, 8x24, and on the right the barroom, 23x40, and the reading room, 20x24. The dining room at the end of the hall will be 35x76 feet in size, and separated from it by a hall from the reading room, and in rear of the latter will be the baggage room, two bed rooms and a large wash room. The second floor will contain one parlor and bed room adjoining, five suites of rooms, one hall way 10x98 feet in size, 18 bed rooms and one store room, all of extra size and to be elegantly finished. Upon the third floor there will be a hall way extending the entire length of the building, together with two transverse hall walls, and 41 bed rooms ranging in size from 10x10 feet in dimensions to 10x16. In addition to these apartments mentioned, the hotel will be connected with the building adjoining it on the rear, which will be used for the purposes of a kitchen, laundry, and apartments for the employes of the establishment when it shall be opened to the public, which it is the intention to have done by the Fourth of July next.—Seattle Intelligencer, May 27.

Imagine the horror of a Chicago mother, whose three-year old daughter recently addressed her with: "Mama, my doll's played out, and I don't want any more rag dollies. I want a meat baby." We all have our wants. A young man's great want, for instance, is one of those perfect suits from Beck & Waldman's.

Peter Wilhelm, at the "Fountain," First and Ash streets, keeps things in a cozy shape His billiard tables are much admired and the new Virginius table is a great favorite. Call and see him.

Mr. A. M. Elam, the successor of Elam & Co., engaged in the livery business, corner of I and Fifth streets, East Portland, has completely refitted and refurnished his establishment, and is now prepared to turn out some very stylish rigs. Feed of all kinds constantly on hand.

W. L. ADAMS, M. D., A. M., LL. D., corner of First and Salmon streets, is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price, by medicated, electric lightning cream baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice, mixed with a little common sense. His treatment is, in the main, entirely original, and works almost miracles, as his numerous patients will attest. A lady always in the office to assist in treating women.

Under date of June 4th, our Eugene correspondent sends the following:

The Springfield express, on account of political business and various other reasons, failed to make its regular weekly trip to-day.

There are two Sundays in this week for the saloons, one Sunday proper and election day, a thing the saloon men do not seem to relish much.

An extra train, composed of six loaded freight cars, passed here this morning for Junction, returning this afternoon with a load of ties and rails to repair the road south of this place.

Politics lively here Saturday; speaking in the afternoon and evening, button-holing the order of the day, and, in spite of all the excitement, only one man was arrested. Good music and fine eloquence was freely dispensed.

The inclement weather detered many of our young folks from visiting Mr. Luger's Sunday resort, which has been fitted up one mile and a half east of town, where croquet, swings, football, strawberries and cream, soda water, etc., etc., make one forget the cares of the busy week and have good real enjoyment.

The first nine of the Eclectics Base Ball Club played a practice game at Junction, Saturday, the members making good scores. They have undoubtedly the material for a strong club, and, with practice, will make the contestants for centennial honors do their best work. The second nine, now organizing, will, no doubt, give the Juniors at Salem a rub before long, as they seem to desire a friendly bout with the boys of Lane.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.

Our regular correspondent at Vancouver, under date of the 5th inst., writes:

The crops in this county are looking well.

Mr. Durgan and lady left to-day for the East.

Vegetable gardens in this place are looking well.

Another picnic is expected to come off at this place on next Saturday.

Columbia river is 30 feet above low water mark at this place, and falling slowly.

J. G. Lovelace, of Mill Plain, is making a great improvement in the roads in that vicinity.

The Eddings Sons, at the postoffice in this city, are rendering themselves very popular with the people as experts in the business.

This beautiful town site is expected to change its appearance very much when the N. P. R. R. reaches us, en route to Portland.

The Spartans of this city, carried off the palm last Saturday last. The Portland boys are a little too slow for the Vancouverites.

The picnic held at this place on Saturday, was a very enjoyable affair, as we learned from many of our old friends from Portland who took part.

The Centennial excursion is to come off next Friday, 9th inst., on the steamer Vancouver, at which time our friends expect to visit East Portland Park.

A number of the typos of Portland spent last Saturday in our City Park, where they enjoyed the beautiful shade and the cool clear water from the hills

THE WOODVILLE-ROUGH AND READY CONTEST.—A Virginia City dispatch of May 23d says: A contest has been going on for the past two months between the Woodville and Rough and Ready Mining Companies for possession of the ground claimed by the former company. Their operations have been carried on by strategy, so far, but it is said both parties are getting warmed up and are liable to begin more active operations at any time. It seems that when the Woodville investigation was in progress, some time ago, the works of that company were shut down, when the Rough and Ready Company put up a small engine on the ground and commenced sinking a shaft. The Woodville, to all appearance, was deserted, but they had a force of men below ground, quietly running a drift to a point to intercept the Rough and Ready shaft and block their game. When the miners in the latter mine saw they were defeated, they turned a stream of water down the shaft with the intention of drowning the Woodville party, but the Water Company objected to this. They then commenced to fill up the drift at the bottom of the shaft with rock and dirt, but the Woodville folks have built a fire and are smoking the Rough and Ready boys out. How it will terminate it is hard to tell.

"Who frew dat peanut at me?" asked a darkey when struck on the head by a sand bag thrown out of a baloon. He must have been as thick-headed as the people who persist in buying inferior clothing from "slop shops" when they can get a really good article for even less money at Fishel & Roberts.

Everybody's favorite—the "golden thread" cigar.

The oldest man in Oregon will be here at the Centennial, and during his stay will purchase a summer outfit at Rosenblatt's, 79 Front street, where bargains are offered.

RETURNED.

Dr. Wightman has again returned to this city, where he can be found at his rooms, northeast corner of Stark and Fourth streets. Remember he makes a specialty of HEMORRHOIDS OR PILES and other DISEASES OF THE RECTUM, giving IMMEDIATE RELIEF AND CURING in a very short time, without interfering with the business of the patient. I use no knife, caustic, ligature or any other painful remedies, having treated many cases of twenty and thirty years' standing with entire satisfaction to the parties treated, I have no hesitation in saying SATISFACTION GUARANTEED. Persons at a distance may consult by mail. The "process" sent by express C. O. D. (not by mail). Consultation fee, $2. Postoffice box, 247, Portland, Oregon.

DR. C. F. WIGHTMAN,

Three and a half millions of hoop poles have been shipped from Puget Sound since December.

Sylvester Scoville of Walla Walla, crazed on spiritualism, has been sent to the insane asylum at Steilacoom.

Seattle has increased her police force to a chief at a salary of $100 per month, and two assistants at $80 each.

The Indians at Red Cloud are estimated as follows: Sioux, 8,834; Cheyenne, 2,172; Arapahoe, 1,970; total, 13,027.

The Collar and Elbow saloon at Seattle was burned last week. The fire was the work of an incendiary and the loss $750.

Last week a large fir tree was struck by lightning at Raeder's logging camp near Port Madison and shattered in pieces.

A large cylinder press has been purchased for the Seattle Intelligencer office and that office will soon issue a large daily paper.

Messrs. Hawley, Wade and Hines, of Union, drove a large band of cattle through Boise City recently, en route for the Colorado market.

Sundry improvements and repairs are now being made to the light station, sheds, keeper's dwelling, fence, etc., at Shoalwater Bay.

J. H. Munson of Olympia, organized an Encampment of Champions of the Red Cross, at Port Townsend, with twenty charter members.

Dr. S. Hemenway, who has been appointed acting assistant surgeon, is to be stationed at Fort Canby, at the mouth of the Columbia river.

The recently elected town marshal of Olympia is found to be ineligible by reason of his not having been a citizen when he was chosen.

A letter from Red Cloud agency says it is not true that the great war chief of that name has suffered a stroke of paralysis. He is down with the gout, however.

The Daily Pacific Tribune has entered upon its twelfth volume. We are glad to read the words of its proprietor that it is proving of pecuniary profit to him.

It is expected that three companies of the soldiers now stationed at Walla Walla will soon be assigned for duty under Gen. Crook in the Big Horn country.

Thos. Moonhouse, an old gentleman of Walla Walla, was thrown from and kicked by a horse last week, and hurt so badly that it is feared he will not recover.

The Semi-Weekly Watchman, enlarged and improved from the Walla Walla Spirit of the West, is on our table. As a newspaper the Watchman is rather ahead of anything Walla Walla ever had before.

The annual meeting of the Christian Church for Western Washington Territory will convene on Friday, June 9, 1876, at the usual place of meeting, near Castle Rock, Cowlitz county, on the N. P. railroad.

The telegraph brings intelligence of the suicide of L. F. Mikkelson, at Silver City, on Sunday, 28th ult. He is an old pioneer and is known all over the coast. Mr. Mikkelson was P. G. M. of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Idaho Territory.

The captain of the ship Commodore, loading at Ludlow, has been arrested and is now in custody at Port Townsend, for shooting one of his sailors on the 24th ult. He was formerly captain of the Puget Mill Co.'s barkentine Victor.

May 24th a little daughter of a Frenchman called Cincear, living in Pierce county, opposite Yelm Prairie, had her clothes catch on fire, and was so badly burned about the body that she died on the following day. She was about four years old.

Considerable excitement exists at Tacoma in reference to the coal road. Orders to build the proposed road are expected shortly. Several attaches of the Northern Pacific have lately entered some of the coal lands with the expectation that this road will soon be built near them.

W. G. Goulding has arrived at Cheyenne from the Black Hills with his pockets full of nuggets and quartz. He reports the old, old story about rich mines, but he incidently remarked that the Indians are "infernally hostile," and killed three men near Mountain City just before he left.

A new coast survey party will commence operations on the Sound sometime in July. Probably the settlement of the San Juan Islands, and the increased business on the lower Sound demands assistance in this work. The shore line of Puget Sound is estimated at 1,833 statute miles, a large portion of which has not been surveyed. Capt. Bradford will have charge of the new party.

On Sunday last the boys were indulging in the rather cruel sport of spearing pogies from the raft which lies just below the Swantown bridge. After the tide had receded hundreds of these fish were lying dead and dying in the mud flats or in the stream. The Celestials, who never allow any opportunity of this kind to pass unimproved, were out in full force, and selected and carried away large numbers of those found still alive.

The situation at the Red Cloud agency is anything but assuring. Eighty lodges of Indians have left there within the past ten days; Ten lodges left there three days ago, in spite of the agent's most strenuous efforts to detain them. All the government stock which belonged there has been run off by the Indians; and fresh outrages are of daily occurrence, All supplies sent from Fort Laramie to the camps and agencies are heavily guarded. The outlook in that direction is full of trouble for Black Hillers, ranchmen and the military.

The B. B. Mail of May 20th has the following: "Our county commissioners did a praiseworthy act at their recent session, in instructing the auditor to correspond with the commissioner of public works of British Columbia with the view of enlisting that functionary's coöperation with the people of Whatcom county in their efforts to connect Bellingham Bay with the Fraser river valley. It is proposed to British Columbia to extend the Fort Hope and New Westminster post road to a point on the boundary line near Sumas Prairie, to intersect the Whatcom and Nootsack road that is now approaching completion to that line.

The Tunnel Lode Company, of Georgetown (says the Colorado Miner), after several months of hard preparatory work, has got things in shape to accomplish the great object of its organization, namely, to sink a shaft 1,000 feet deeper on the Colorado Central or Number Five Lode, from its point of intersection in the Marshall Tunnel. Here, 800 feet from the mouth of the tunnel, and 500 below the surface, in the famous dancing chamber where a subterranean ball was given, last year, a substantial engine and boiler are located, and are now kept steadily at work. A smoke stack 500 feet high is no slouch of a stack, but no less would answer for this enterprise. The shaft which is to solve the problem of deep mining in Clear creek county, is 5x14 feet, divided into two compartments, with strong ladderways, and is now going deeper every hour at a rapid rate.

6,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all und[illegible] cultivation, and suitable for grain or [illegible]

946 Acres, four miles south [illegible] of Salem, on the railroad, with Mill creek [illegible] running through [illegible]. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs, [illegible] in part of the old Rector donation claim, on which [illegible] the past year fifty bushels of wheat and [illegible] tons of [illegible] per acre. The first crop of oats ever ra[illegible] on part of this land me[illegible] ninety-four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground cha[illegible] by Mr. Alfred Stanton, of Salem.

3,700 Acres of prairie and light [illegible] land, with timber for farming pur[illegible], bounded by the Willamette River for four miles, beautiful lake on the east, boat landings all a[illegible] the river, commencing four miles north of Salem—all [illegible] grain [illegible] the largest and most suitable [illegible] of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony. To be sold [illegible] $16 to $25 per acre. This land will all be [illegible] surveyed, and can be sold in larger or [illegible] to suit purchasers. It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage, and I can offer any [illegible] or [illegible] or colony of persons, desiring to [illegible] homes in the best part of the Willamette Valley, near the city of Salem and within [illegible] of the best social advantages, as well as [illegible] reasonably [illegible] with respect to market, greater advantages on more favorable terms, than they can ever [illegible] again. THOMAS CROSS.

Sealed Proposals

WILL BE RECEIVED BY THE Superintendent of the Oregon State Penitentiary, at his office in Salem, until 3 o'clock P. M. June 17, 1876, (which said proposals will be [illegible] in [illegible] of the Governor and Secretary of State at [illegible] P. M. June 19,) for leasing to the high[illegible] bidder the labor of thirty-five convicts for a period of not exceeding four years.

Said labor to be performed within the Prison enclosures, and the convicts to be subject to Prison discipline and rules, viz: seven working hours from Oct. 1st to April 1st, and ten working hours from April 1st to Oct. 1st of each year, with [illegible] exemption from labor each and every [illegible] afternoon.

No bid for less than 50 cents per day will be considered. Payment required quarterly in U. S. gold coin. Bonds for 5 per cent. of the amount involved in the proposal, to accompany each bid as guarantee of fulfillment of contract if accepted.

Among the 35 men are four blacksmiths. Also, the State will furnished blacksmith's tools and shop-room, free of charge, and will enlarge the premises if sufficient men are let to justify so doing.

THE OLD SCISSORS' SOLILOQUY

I am lying at rest in the sanctum to night—
The place is deserted and still—
To my right lie exchanges and manuscripts white,
To my left are the ink and the quill—
Yes, the quill, for my master's old fashioned and quaint,
And refuses to write with a pen
He insists that old Franklin the editor saint
Used a quill, and he'll imitate Ben
I love the old fellow—together for years
We've managed the Farmer's Gazette,
And although I am old, I'm his favorite shears,
And can crowd the compositors yet
But my duties are rather too heavy, I think,
And I oftentimes envy the quill
As it daily leans with its nib in the ink
While I'm sl[illegible]ing away with a will
But when I was new—I remember it well
Though a score of long years have gone by—
The heaviest share of the editing fell
On the quill, and I think with a sigh
Of the days when I'd scissor an extract or two
From a neighboring editor's leader,
Then laugh in my sleeve at the quill as it flew
In behalf of the general reader
I am being paid for my merriment then
For my master is wrinkled and gray
And often lays hold of his primitive pen
Even when he writes to say
"We are needing some money to run this machine
And subscribers will please to remit
That last load of wood Jones brought us was green,
[illegible] ity it couldn't be split."
[illegible] and deaf and is getting quite blind
(He'll be loth to acknowledge the latter)
I'm sorry to say it's a puzzle to find
The tail to the most of his matter
The compositors plague him whenever they see
The result of a luckless endeavor
But the darling old rascal just lays it to me,
And make no remonstrance whatever
[illegible] the blame—very little I care
[illegible] jolly compositor's jest,
But I [illegible] wish the silvery hair
Will soon, very soon be at rest
He has labored full long for the true and the good,
Thro' the manifold troubles that irk us,
[illegible] employment, raiment and food
And a pass now and then to the circus
[illegible] the past comes a memory bright
[illegible] with the freshness of clover,
[illegible] me to clip from her tresses, one night,
A lock for her lover
The lock is still glossy and brown,
[illegible] is much older and fatter,
[illegible] he's an editor here in the town—
[illegible] on the staff of the latter
[illegible] in the sanctum to-night—
[illegible] and still—
[illegible] and the moon is in sight
[illegible] the trees on the brow of the hill
[illegible] along in undignified haste
[illegible] the wind rushes by with a wail—
[illegible] a whopping big rat in the paste—
I'd like to shut down on his tail!

VALUABLE LANDS FOR SALE,

600,000 Acres in

EASTERN OREGON!

For Farming and Grazing Purposes.

THESE LANDS ARE SITUATED IN WASCO Grant and Baker counties and are offered for sale in such sized tracts not less than 160 acres, as purchasers may desire. Here is afforded a most favorable opportunity to immigrants and settlers seeking homes and low priced land to acquire both on the most reasonable terms. These lands are excellent for farming and grazing. On most of the tracts no grubbing, or other preparation of the land for plowing is requisite. A growth of nutricious grass covers the uplands, affording the best of pasturage, while in the valleys and bottom, lands the grass can be mowed and made into hay. Living springs and streams water the lands in various directions. The uplands or rolling lands can be put into crops with the most satisfactory return. Fruit, particularly peaches, plums grapes, apples pears and cherries, as well as the smaller fruits, can be grown in great abundance. The climate of Eastern Oregon is very healthful. Flourishing towns are located at convenient points for traffic. The mails are regularly conveyed throughout that section, and a prosperous population is already established and occupied in farming stock growing mining and various other pursuits.

Terms $1 25 per acre and upwards according to quality and quantity. Interest ten per cent. on deferred payments.

THE OLD SCISSORS SOLILOQUY

I am lying at rest in the sanctum to-night
 The place is deserted and still
To my right lie exchanges and manuscripts white,
 To my left are the ink and the quill
Yes, the quill, for my master's old fashioned and quaint,
 And refuses to write with the pen,
He insists that old Franklin the editor saint,
 Used a quill and he'll imitate Ben
[illegible] the old fellow together for years
 We've managed the Farmer's [illegible]
And although I am old I [illegible]
 And can crowd the compositors yet
But my duties are rather too heavy [illegible]
 And I oftentimes envy the quill
As it lazily leans with its nib in the [illegible],
 While I'm slashing away with a will
But when I was new I remember it well
 Though a score of [illegible]
The heaviest share of the editing fell
 On the quill, and I think with a sigh
Of the days when I [illegible]
 From a neighboring editor's shelf
Then laugh in my sleeve at the quill as a thief
 In behalf of [illegible]
I am being paid for my merriment there
 For my master is wrinkled and gray,
And seldom lays hold of his primitive pen
 Except when he wishes to say
"We are needing some money to run this machine
 And subscribers will please to remit
Or, that last load of wood Jones brought us was green,
 And so knotty it couldn't be split."
He is nervous and deaf and is getting quite blind
 (Though he hates to acknowledge the latter)
And I'm sorry to say it's a puzzle to find
 Head or tail to the most of his matter compositors plague him whenever they see
 the result of a luckless endeavor
 the darling old [illegible] just lays it to me and I make no remonstrance whatever
 I shoulder the blame—very little I care for the jolly compositor's jest
For I think of a head with the silvery hair
 That will soon, very soon be at rest
He has labored full long for the true and the good,
 And the manifold troubles that irk us,
His only emolument, raiment and food
 And a pass now and then to the circus
Heigho! from the past comes a memory bright
 Of a lass with the freshness of clover,
Who used me to clip from her tresses one night
 A memorial lock for her lover
And that dear little lock is still glossy and brown
 But the lass is much older and fatter
And the youth—he's an editor here in the town
 I'm employed on the staff of the latter
I am lying at rest in the sanctum to-night
 The place is deserted and still
The stars are abroad and the moon is in sight
 Through the trees on the brow of the hill
Clouds hurry along in undignified haste
 And the wind rushes by with a wail
Hello! there's a whopping big rat in the paste
 How I'll like to shut down on his tail!

TESTING A LOVER'S SINCERITY

(From the Reading (Penn) Eagle

A young woman imagined that a young [illegible] who had been very attentive to her for six months had deserted her, and an old woman of her acquaintance advised her what to do "Take one of his letters the very sweetest of all that he ever sent you, and put a lock of your hair in it, and then put it back in the envelope Go to the White Spot and on your way up hunt a piece of thin witch hazel wood." Here the old woman gave a full description of this mysterious bush. "Then [illegible] back and try to remember a place where he kissed you standing on the ground As near as you can remember bury the letter, lock of hair and witch hazel right on the spot where he stood and kissed you, and let it re[main] there three days"

The young woman followed the advice, cut off a lock of her hair went and procured the [illegible], and then she set to thinking [where] the last had been kissed. She could find no outside kiss that she had ever [had] from him, excepting one that he gave [one] night while they were walking down [street] toward Bingaman, opposite the fire-brick works. Four nights ago she [went] thither with a trowel that she borrowed, and she quickly buried the articles The third night was last night, and she went [to] that little grave. What she saw she related to the woman. She said she [saw] jets of fire shoot up from the ground "[That's] right," said the old conjurer "his conscience is burning and torturing him He'll [be back] in less than ten days Be of good [cheer. On] the third night go and get your [letter] out of the ground and bury them under the eaves of your house somewhere, so that [the] drops will fall over them" And that [is how] the young woman tested the fidelity of [her] lover.

[illegible] at par.

[illegible] has absorbed a greater portion of the [attention] to-day and business has generally [been] light in all departments. The local monetary [situation] has not materially changed for a month [past] and with a limited demand for pecuniary aid [from] the [illegible] and fishing interests, rates are sus[tained] [illegible] 10@12 per cent. per annum. The [illegible] however, are only conceded on long [illegible] counts, while in the way of com[illegible] it often costs the borrower 1½ per [cent] [illegible] smaller sums for 60 or 90 days The [tendency] of the market is still towards an accumu[lation] of surplus funds, much of which it is be[lieved] will be required more abundantly after har[vest]. About the same condition of affairs are in San Francisco in our latest exchanges [at] that point.

[Showing] the plethora of money in Europe [and] the [great] depression in rates of interest the [following] comparison of the amounts of gold in the vaults of the leading banks of Europe is of in[terest]:

	— April 1876	1875
[Bank] of France....	$378,830,000	$303,76[illegible],000
[Bank] of England.	127,270,000	101,43[illegible],000

[Bank] of Belgium.	2[illegible],725,000	22,61[illegible],000
Totals....	$725,[illegible]08,000	$625,770,000

Domestic Produce.

[Such] has been the hurry of farmers with their [haying] and other spring work during the past few [days], that they have given but little attention to the markets and few offers to sell produce in large quantities have been made except perhaps the single article of wool, and actual transactions in that staple have not been heavy as growers and buyers have not been generally able to agree on terms In wheat and flour very little has been done and [though] it is estimated that a very considerable surplus of wheat is yet held in the interior there seems to be but very little disposition on the part of any one to move it in the present condition of the markets. The Liverpool quotations by latest telegrams indicate a firm tone to transactions there but the fact is not regarded as of much consequence either to producers or shippers in Oregon as there are no ships here to load and those dispatched so far this [season] have their cargoes already sold as a rule though there may be a few exceptions The prospect for the growing crop is generally reported as excellent though in some few localities we hear that the plant has assumed a yellow and somewhat sickly appearance produced by the long continued cool, damp weather On the whole however, the present season since the first of May has been favorable for spring sowing and the acreage planted in that month is larger than ever before in a corresponding time Mill feed oats and hay are in very light supply and the home trade, with a few unimportant shipments takes up about all the surplus Provisions especially bacon and lard which have been steadily ruling firm at fair quotations, show increased receipts and some signs of declining but trade is well sustained and some important shipments are being made to the northern mines Dairy products from farms adjacent to the city, supply the local trade, receipts from the interior being of moderate volume. Values in all respects are unchanged
